Trouble shooters did a splendid job in restoring service disrupted by the storm

Deep Snow Tangles Traffic on Malahat

Heavy snow on Malahat yesterday snarled traffic, forced some motorists without chains to return to Victoria and Duncan. Two snow ploughs were held up in work of clearing road when trucks and cars skidded in deep snow and blocked the road. R.C.M.P. officials again warned motorists not to attempt the Malahat without chains. Linemen struggled through to repair lines and poles broken in Monday's gale. This photo was taken looking north on the highway, a short distance before the Shawnigan Lake cutoff. Road was later cleared and bus traffic was reported traveling on schedule.

Downtown Hotel Shooting Results in Death of Two

Seeming Lack of Motive Baffles City Authorities

A barrage of automatic pistol slugs last night ended the lives of two youths in a Broad Street hotel room during what police believe was a murder-suicide shooting affray.

One of the dead youths registered at the Lincoln Hotel, 1319½ Broad Street, as Michael Mazur, 12314 85th Street, Edmonton.

The other's identity was tentatively established late last night as Edward Brodie, a soldier from Work Point Barracks.

Army authorities would only say that he came from a small Alberta town, and was a recent recruit.

They are notifiying next-of-kin.

POLICE BAFFLED

Police and army authorities this morning are still baffled about possible motives behind the tragedy.

The barrage of bullets which killed the pair came from a German P-38, 9-m.m. automatic pistol, police said.

George Kammer, desk clerk at the hotel, said Mazur, accompanied by Brodie, registered for a single room at 6 p.m.

SHOTS RING OUT

Less than 15 minutes later, a fusillade of shots rang out behind the closed door of Room 192, and when city detectives entered they found the bodies of the youths lying side by side.

Kammer said the pair appeared quite sober, and did not seem to have had an argument.

"I took them to their room, and Mazur took off his coat, looked around the room, and said: "This is a nice-looking layout."

"I left them there and went back to the desk. I wasn't there but a few minutes, when shots, like a machine gun, rang out.

SAW BULLET HOLES

"I rushed down to room 192, saw bullet holes in the door, and went back to the desk and phoned the police."

Ordinary Seaman James MacArthur, H.M.C.S. Ontario, who was staying in another room, was reading a magazine on the chesterfield of the small lobby facing room 192 when the two youths, led by Kammer, went in.

"I didn't pay much attention, and when Kammer came out I went on reading.

NO NOISE

"There was no noise from 192, and certainly no sound of argument," he said.

"Suddenly the shots, like a machine gun, went off behind the

Elements Give City Breather

Victorians today face an easier day from the elements after heavy rainstorms and gusts of wind up to 68 m.p.h. lashed the city last night.

The weatherman at Gonzales Observatory said at midnight that the barometer was rising and clear weather was expected for this morning. Light, westerly winds are predicted, with clouds in the afternoon.

Yesterday, the city felt all kinds of Winter weather. Driving winds drove sheets of sleet across downtown streets and pedestrians were driven to shelter in doorways.

Earlier the air was calm and the Strait was clear across to Port Angeles.

Yesterday morning a drenching rain removed the last traces of the half-inch of snow that fell in the city.

As a result of Monday's storm citizens and contractors were storming lumber mills for shingles, plywood sheets and roofing paper to repair damage incurred in the 73-m.p.h. gales.

Convict Doctor Of Treason

RANGOON, Burma, Jan. 17 (Wednesday) (AP). — A Burmese special tribunal today convicted America's "Burma Surgeon," Dr. Gordon Seagrave, of high treason. It sentenced him to six year's imprisonment on one count and one year on another.

Planners to Be Asked To Reconsider Quitting

Resignations of the nine appointed members of the Victoria Town Planning Commission were not accepted yesterday by City Council.

Instead, council gave unanimous support to a motion submitted by Alderman Waldo Skillings urging that the planners be requested individually to withdraw their resignations "in the public interest."

Commission members resigned in a body earlier this month over council action in rezoning Gorge Road property from the Victoria Nursing Home to the C-M-R, creating as a "commercial" area.

The commission had recommended that council table the zoning issue until next month.

EXPRESS REGRET

In approaching individual members of the commission, Alderman Skillings said council should express its regret and convey its appreciation for the past services of the planners.

Alderman Skillings' motion was passed without comment by council.

Only three members of the Town Planning Commission could be reached for comment last night. Forrest L. Shaw, commission chairman, Walter Miles and P. E. Doncaster appeared willing to reconsider their resignations.

Mr. Shaw declared, however, that he wouldn't want to return to "the old policy."

WANTS POLICY

He said he would like to see council establish a definite policy in its dealings with the commission.

Resignations were submitted because town planners felt too many of their recommendations, based on detailed study and sound principles of town planning, were being ignored by council.

Mr. Miles stated he would not act independently of other commission members. If members of the commission agreed a way had been found to work amicably with council, Mr. Miles said he would be prepared to withdraw his resignation.

He praised the ability and qualifications of other commission members.

WELL BALANCED

"We have one of the best balanced town planning commissions I've seen," he said.

Mr. Doncaster said he wished to reserve comment until he had given himself time to consider the matter.

Other members of the commission included H. W. Davey, K.C., E. Marjorie Hill, R. H. B. Ker, F. N. Cabeldu, E. N. Horsey and G. A. A. Hebden.

Fan Tan Alley Fire Puts Two Chinese in Hospital

Two elderly Chinese men were taken to hospital yesterday during a Chinatown fire that threatened an entire lower Fisgard Street block.

They are Lee Chun May, 78, and Low Bing Kee, 72, both of 23 Fan Tan Alley, a dingy rooming house.

Lee suffered severe burns to his legs, hands, throat and back. Low was overcome by smoke. Both are reported by Royal Jubilee Hospital authorities to be in good condition.

The fire was considered so menacing for a time that Fire Chief Robert T. Brindle ordered off-shift firemen to "stand by."

The fire broke out in Lee's room about 11:45 a.m. when the pensioner, who is said to have been ill, ran out of coal oil for his portable heater and refilled it with gasoline.

An explosion resulted and Lee ran from his second-story room and part way down a long narrow flight of stairs, then rushed back to gather some belongings.

The second time he ran out of the burning building his clothes were afire. He was met by Dick Joe, 555 Fisgard, who turned in the alarm.

Firemen laid four lines, running the first line into the narrow alley from Fisgard. Smoke was extremely dense and could be seen from several blocks away.

Firemen found most of the upstairs "cubicles" locked because the tenants were at work. On the third floor firemen found Low lying on the floor, overcome by smoke. He was revived on the way to hospital.

The fire was brought under control after Chief Brindle ordered a line taken into another lane which runs off Fan Tan Alley. By this time there were three pump trucks, a service truck and an aerial truck on the scene. A No. 2 hall pump truck, which had gone to fill in at headquarters, was ordered to the Cormorant Street entrance of Fan Tan Alley as firemen feared the blaze would cross to nearby buildings which are Honeycombed with small rooms.

Six rooms and a large community kitchen on the second floor were gutted. Only damage to the ground and top floors was caused by smoke and water.

Charges India Blocked Pacts

LONDON, Jan. 16 (Reuters).—Liaquat Ali Khan, Prime Minister of Pakistan, said today India had turned down three proposals to solve the troublesome Kashmir dispute advanced at top-level Commonwealth meetings last week.

Pakistan accepted the proposals, he told a press conference.

Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India later commented: "All I have to say is that it is not usual to disclose private conversations."

Plane Carries Ten to Death In Washington

EDWALL, Wash., Jan. 16 (AP).—A twin-engined passenger plane carried ten persons to their deaths today as it hurtled down through the snow and crashed near an Eastern Washington farmhouse.

All aboard the Northwest Airlines plane died—seven passengers and three crew members.

Pilot Lloyd Rickman, of Seattle, said in his last radio message he was at an elevation of 6,000 feet and "in trouble."

The plane—a Martin 202 capable of carrying 36 passengers—hit the ground and burned on the L. E. Bundy farm about 800 feet from the farmhouse. It had taken off from Spokane 15 or 20 minutes before on a flight to Seattle.

The passengers were listed by the company as: C. Edwards, Yakima; W. J. Craft, San Francisco; Robert R. Mann, Tacoma; Mr. and Mrs. G. J. Milligan, Fairfax, Va.; Charles Wood, Seattle; and W. H. Goodlowe, San Francisco. The crew members were Rickman, 33, Edmund J. Gander, 28, the co-pilot, and Joann Tabor, 22, all of Seattle.

CAN'T TELL

Airlines officials in Spokane said they couldn't tell yet what had happened.

"There just wasn't anything left to see," a reporter said after visiting the scene 20 miles west of Spokane. "The plane just isn't there. Mr. Bundy, the farm owner, couldn't even tell it was a plane until he saw the largest piece left—an engine."

Sgt. William Todd of the State Patrol said there were no complete bodies found. "All there was left was pieces, and small ones."

Bundy said he ran out to the scene of the crash and found little left.

"It looked then just like it does now (three hours after the crash), just pieces. . . .

"I kicked around until I found a book that said Northwest Airlines on it—then I knew what it was."

British Sailors Lost on Island

Two British sailors from H.M.S. Challenger are lost somewhere in the storm-battered Queen Charlotte Islands naval officials at Esquimalt announced last night.

Fully Qualified To Hold Office, Reeve Asserts

Apparently answering his critics, Reeve A. I. Thomas yesterday stated he was "absolutely qualified" to hold office in Esquimalt.

Speaking at the inaugural meeting of Central Saanich Council, Reeve Thomas declared:

"I am absolutely qualified' . . . and that is that."

Reeve Thomas made the remark while bringing Esquimalt's greetings to the new council.

"Your first requisite will be a thick skin—I know," the reeve told the packed Brentwood Women's Institute Hall gathering.

It was after this he made the statement about his qualifications.

At Monday's Esquimalt Council meeting, Mrs. Marjorie Borden, 943 Forshaw Road, demanded that the council deal with the matter of the reeve's qualifications to hold office. After receiving the municipal solicitor's advice, the council declined to act.

Top Solarium Staff Resigns in Dispute

The chief of the medical staff, the orthopedic surgeon, the physiotherapist, the director of nurses and several members of the graduate nurses' staff of the Queen Alexandra Solarium have resigned as a result of a dispute with the board of directors over the administration of the hospital.

The mass resignation is believed to have stemmed from a request by the board, under President Logan Mayhew, that the director of nurses, Miss Dorothy Andrew, take a six months' leave of absence, at $200 a month, and attend a post-graduate course in hospital administration. She is reported to have refused the request.

RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Her resignation is reported to have been accepted by the board at a meeting held Monday night. The resignation of Dr. Glenn Simpson, chief of the medical staff, who is reported to have supported Miss Andrew, was also accepted.

Dr. Donald E. Starr, orthopedic surgeon from Vancouver, and the resident nursing staff, have tendered their resignations to Dr. Simpson.

In a long-distance telephone conversation last night, Dr. Starr, in Vancouver, said:

"I have tendered my resignation to Dr. Simpson. My position at the Solarium is dependent on whether Dr. Simpson stays or not. I cannot work without him."

He added that he thought it was time the public "knew what was going on at the Solarium."

The upheaval at the Solarium apparently hinges on who is going to run the organization. The public furnishes funds to finance the hospital for crippled children. An unpaid board of directors, composed of prominent Victorians, administers the hospital as it sees fit. The medical staff, under Dr. Simpson, looks after the welfare of the children.

The problem seems to be over who should be in charge of the medical personnel—the chief of medical staff or the board of directors.

Miss Andrew, who has been at the Solarium for about 14 years, was requested by the board to further her hospital administration training. She declined the board's request and resigned.

From reports received last night, it is believed that Dr. Simpson objected to the board's interfering with the working of his staff and tendered his resignation also. Other members of the staff backed the doctor.

Board Grants Increases

Milk Price Up Two-Cents in Victoria, Duncan; One-Cent Raise for Nanaimo

People of Victoria, Duncan and districts will pay an extra two cents a quart for milk effective tomorrow.

In Nanaimo the increase will be one cent.

Price for standard milk in Victoria will be 21 cents a quart. In Nanaimo the price will be 20 cents.

Other grades of milk and cream are increased proportionately.

Distributors get 60 per cent of the increase, producers 40 per cent.

The new prices were set by a Provincial milk board order approved by the Cabinet yesterday. They follow hearings held in mid-November.

After reviewing evidence at the hearings, Milk Board Chairman E. C. Carr concluded: "Careful and conscientious attention has been given to the submissions, evidence and arguments advanced by the respective parties, and after consideration, the board's decision is that primary producers require a higher rate for milk supplied to milk dealers for use in the fluid trade, and that an adjustment should be made in the milk dealer's margins.

"To do this it becomes necessary to increase the consumer rates.

"The board has long been cognisant of the position of the consumer and will continue to exert its efforts in the proper exercise of its responsibility to the public."

TURNED DOWN

The board turned down the application of George Masters, superintendent of Jubilee Hospital, for a larger discount.

Mr. Carr concluded the present discount was "fair and equitable."

Primary producers will get an additional 35 cents a hundred pounds for milk testing 3.5 per cent butter fat. They will sell milk at $5 a hundred pounds. The differential paid for an increase or decrease of 1-10 of one per cent in butterfat content is reduced from 6 1-2 cents to 5 1-3 cents.

"First Step Is Hardest"

St. Laurent Says East, West Will Go Far if Started in Right Direction

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (C). — Prime Minister St. Laurent said tonight he thinks that if East and West "get started in the right direction we will go a long way."

No one, he said, could do "anything but hope" about the attitude behind the Iron Curtain.

But, on the Korea cease-fire issue, the West had put forward its view "in such a way that one would have to be quite unreasonable to reject it offhand."

"I think that if we get started in the right direction we will go a long way," he continued.

SOME COMFORT

Mr. St. Laurent, who returned today from the London conference of Commonwealth Prime Ministers and a visit to France, said he had drawn some comfort over the world situation from the trip.

It might be an over-statement to say there was improvement in the situation, he said, "but there was some comfort to be found in the unanimity of all with whom I came in contact."

Discussing the possibility of a cease-fire, Mr. St. Laurent quoted an old French proverb: "C'est le premier pas qui coute." (The first step is the hardest.)

Asked if there was any appreciable gap between the views of the United States and those at the London conference over the Korean issue, he replied, "I don't think so, really."

NOT WISE

As to criticism that the United Nations cease-fire committee displayed too soft an attitude towards Red China, Mr. St. Laurent said it was not always wise to express one's real feelings to those with whom negotiations were starting.

"I don't think any of us want to sell our souls to Soviet Russia or Red China," he observed.

He was asked if rejection of the cease-fire bid would be followed by United Nations' branding of Red China as an aggressor.

His reply was that, if it were rejected and China proposed no alternative, there would seem "little hope of settlement by peaceful means."

Reopen Issue Of Blue Laws

VANCOUVER, Jan. 16 (CP). — Voters in Vancouver may be given another chance to mark ballots on a Sunday sports and entertainment plebiscite.

Aldermen Archie Proctor and Alex Fisher have filed a notice of motion calling on the City Council to approve a plebiscite for a modified relaxation of the blue laws.

Vancouver taxpayers rejected in the December civic elections a proposed "open" Sunday, by a vote of 34,971 to 28,951.

The new plebiscite would ask four questions, each of which would call for a "Yes" or "No" answer. These would be: Are you in favor of amateur or professional sports Sunday afternoons? Of musical concerts, of theatre performances, and of bowling in commercial alleys?

ALL ABOARD

By G. E. Mortimore

Becoming a parent is almost as dangerous as winning a sweepstake. Salesmen of the most savage kind spring upon you from all sides.

That's the word from Colonist reporter Trevor Collins, a recent father.

A few days after the infant arrives, Trev says, every baby-food outfit in the country sends you a booklet on its care and maintenance. Titles include "His Majesty the Baby," "The Newcomer," and a dozen more of the same kind.

Enclosed are loose forms which you fill out to obtain a most ambitious book. The parent is given to understand that the youngster will inevitably grow to be a healthy giant if he is fed nothing but "X" baby food for the next 16 years.

Three different kinds of insurance operators plague the new father in a week's time. First to arrive is the primitive salesman who makes a direct approach and says "Wanna buy a policy?" He usually calls at the office.

The salesman points out how, by investing a small sum every month, you can send the child through university and provide for his old age.

The second kind of insurance company operates by mail only, from points as far away as Vancouver, Toronto and New York. The company sends another booklet on the care and maintenance of children, but also includes a large pamphlet about the advantages of its own child insurance policies.

The third kind operates in a more subtle way. The company sends you another booklet about care . . . etc., and notifies you that a representative will call shortly.

The agent turns up at your house and says: "Good morning. I'm from the Z Insurance Company. Came to congratulate you on the birth of your new baby. How's he doing? Did you receive our booklet? I hope you found it useful."

That way, says Trev, "he traps you into conversation and beats his way into your living-room. He doesn't seem to mind the baby screaming in the back room. He's probably chosen for toughness."

No less than five salesmen of this kind called at the Collins' home. Altogether they seem the most likely to succeed, but Trev didn't buy a policy from any of them, or from the others who called.

He has his own insurance man, who didn't call at all. Instead, this subtle agent merely sent Pat a gift when she was in hospital, with no commercial attached. He's going to get the Collins' business.

Another thing that arrives in a few days' time is a sample "thank you" card from a city printing firm, all set up with the baby's name on it. The printer offers the cards at a cut rate.

Where do all the people get the prospect's name? The source is the humble birth announcement which appears in the newspaper.

* * *

Now we're talking about Collins', I might as well bring up the subject of Al Collins (no relation).

You may remember that Al is the radio announcer who blew his top because I pointed out that dialect imitations were not his strong point. I understand he quit trying to do them for a couple of days.

Then, sad to say, he got back his nerve and started again. Now he is trying to talk like an Englishman, and sounding more like a Dutchman with adenoids every day.

"Oh how I agree with you on this subject of would-be imitators," writes a Wynchbury Avenue lady. "How often have I felt like writing a letter suggesting that listeners, particularly English listeners, be allowed to listen to 'Piccadilly Parade' without those irritating Cockney-Lancashire-Uplands-Canadian introductions."

Writes a Duncan reader: "You certainly hit the nail on the head in your remarks about the various accents of different nationalities, and the futile attempts made at 'imitations,' which never remotely resemble the natural mode of speech.

"Such attempts are, however, largely confined to this continent, and arise partly, I think, from bad manners and inferiority complex, plus ignorance."

Bail $5,000 For Accused In Rail Case

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Jan. 16 (CP).—Bail was set at $5,000 today for Alfred John Atherton, charged with manslaughter in the Canoe River train wreck in which 21 persons died.

Magistrate P. J. Moran said the sum must be put up in two sureties and bondsmen must appear in Prince George.

Atherton, a 22-year-old telegrapher, is alleged to have transmitted a train order incorrectly November 21, bringing on the collision of two Canadian National Railways trains.

Unit of Pats In Attack Drill

MIRYANG, Korea, Jan. 16 (Reuters).—A company of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, rehearsed an attack drill today and for the first time since arriving in this war-torn peninsula December 19 was "married up" with its supporting weapons — mortars and medium machine guns.

The mortars were commanded by Capt. Lloyd Hill, Kentville, N.S., and the machine-guns by Capt. Andy Foulds, Vancouver, B.C.

Paratroops moved into the attack under live fire, accustoming themselves to the sound of their own supporting arms.

Chinese Businessmen Control Malaya Over Sultans' Rule

By H. T. MATSON

KUALA LUMPUR, Jan. 4 (By Airmail)—Throughout Malaya, all towns of any size are dominated by Chinese. Most retail houses are conducted by them and a great number of tin mines and rubber plantations are under Chinese ownership. Chief reason apparently is that the men of Chinese origin are both astute and diligent, while the Malayans are about as lazy a people as can be found in all Asia. This produces the strange paradox of a country that though ruled in its nine states by Malayan Sultans, is nevertheless and very obviously dependent for any progress—physical or economic—on purely aliens. The Sultans of course pronounce their various edicts from time to time (with much protocol of a rather naive order), but in anything ultimate they are subjected to the Imperial Crown, while in another sense both Malayan psychology and economy is very much subjected to and affected by the implacable Chinese.

INDIANS SECOND

Indians seem to rank second in terms of trade and commerce—that is in a visible way—taking them shop-by-shop and stall-by-stall. Then come the Europeans who generally have captured a central portion of most towns and then shadowed them with names like "Boustead, Laidlaw Whiteaway, Mackenzie Ltd., Robinson's, Butterfield and Swires" . . . all huge concerns that represent shipping, tin, rubber, retail goods, fruit, palm oil or anything that might fetch a stiver in world marts.

NO INCOME TAX

Now these three—Chinese, Indians and Europeans—all apparently deal amicably enough together, save for one very sharp anomaly . . . The Chinese pay little or no income tax. How they avoid paying has never been comprehensively explained. I've been told by several indignant Britishers that the almost "non-existent" method of Chinese bookkeeping is what embosses "black" so heavily in their somewhat dubious ledgers; and again, you'll seldom find an adding machine, or any mechanical device that prints numerals on recording tape in a Chinese bank or business house . . . always the little square frame with the wooden markers that agile fingers flick up and down the transverse wires . . . In other words, innocent-looking but highly effective primitive methods may account for about ninety per cent of China's millionaires, and I don't imagine that the Orient is the right place to suggest as a move to any up-and-coming young chartered accountant; he'd not go over.

SLICKEST IN WORLD?

Now the odd thing covering the above is that by law, the Chinese are compelled to pay income tax. Fact that they seem able to slide from under with such ease makes one wonder whether the Europeans who cry so hard and try so hard—and with all their expert C.A.'s and legal men to assist—to duck taxes have been wasting time for years . . . or is the Chinese banker-businessman just about the slickest in the world? I'm inclined to think so.

Added coal on the fire—as from the baleful British chimney—is that not only do the Chinese avoid taxes, but furthermore grow fat and rich on the country and do nothing in return. That is perfectly true. The Chinese do nothing toward civic upkeep—schools, housing, roads, etc.—and by all accounts they manage to pay the smallest possible wages in their tin and rubber operations, and that in spite of the fact that bandits pick heavily on planters reputed to treat their employees poorly. Furthermore, it is said that by some miracle or other, the Chinese pay very little in "protection" money, either. How do they do it? Nobody knows.

One last thing: It is also current that many a Chinese can drive in his expensive car from Singapore to Kuala Lumpur, and from there to Penang unambushed and contingently unmolested, whereas other nationalities think twice before driving two miles in an ox-wagon. Again, how do they do it? And again, nobody knows! The more I see of this erratic, eccentric indefinable Far East the more I realize the truth of Kipling's priceless words, "East is East, and West is West, and never the twain shall meet." Nor will they. Nor were they ever designated to do anything but remain apart . . . which grows more evident and ominous each sweltering, trembling day.

Water in Atomic Teapot Boiling for Five Years

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
A.P. Science Editor

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP).—The secrets of an atomic reactor are disclosed for the first time in an official description of the water boiler, an atomic teapot, at Los Alamos, New Mexico.

The description was authorized by an agreement among Canada, the United States and Britain to make public scientific discoveries that have no military value.

This reactor is the smallest yet built. Its centre, the water boiler, is a hollow sphere of stainless steel about the size of a basketball. The ball is covered by a layer of beryllium oxide, a metal.

This little teapot is buried at the centre of a cube of graphite, the stuff that makes the lead in pencils. The graphite is five feet in diameter.

Enclosing the graphite are three successive boxes of cadmium, and finally a box of concrete five feet thick. All this forms a cube 15 feet on a side.

The "tea" in this case is a mixture of ordinary water and about 12 pounds of dissolved uranium. Nearly two pounds of this is uranium 235, the kind whose atoms split.

These uranium-235 atoms are splitting all the time, but not in large numbers. In the water, those that split emit particles called neutrons, which split other atoms of uranium. This splitting builds up so fast that, if unrestrained, the heat from the splits would melt the steel, beryllium, and probably the graphite and lead.

Splitting is controlled by two rods of cadmium metal, sticking into the water. Cadmium absorbs so many neutrons that not enough are left to start a chain reaction of splitting.

Producing neutrons is the entire purpose of the boiler. They are used for scientific experiments.

They pass out through the steel as neatly as a knife through cheese. There are holes in the concrete and the other shields to let them out in beams, which can emerge into the open air, or be stopped wherever wanted inside the reactor, by plugging the holes.

This reactor has been running five years on the original charge of 12 pounds of uranium.

Ottawa Hopes To Recover Overpayments

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (CP) — The Federal treasury probably will recover all but $42,863 of the $451,174 overpaid in family allowances from the time they were started in 1945 to March 31, 1950, the Health Department said today in its annual report.

The total of family allowance payments up to last March 31 was $1,249,361,666.

The report, covering the fiscal year ended last March, said that about $156,983 of the overpayments is automatically recoverable from active family allowance accounts. It is anticipated another $250,326 will be recovered from parents even though their family allowance accounts have terminated.

The remainder—$42,863, or 9.5 per cent of the total—is "considered uncollectable."

In giving figures, the department explained why it could not accept suggestions of the auditor-general—Watson Sellar—to prevent overpayments.

Mr. Sellar said last year in his report that most of the overpayments were in Quebec. The department said these overpayments were mainly due to delay in obtaining provincial birth records in Quebec. This difficulty now has been overcome.

Juvenile employment helped to keep the proportion of overpayments in Quebec high in comparison with other provinces. In Quebec, children are obliged to attend school only until they are 14. In other provinces the compulsory age is 16.

Blaze Guts Noted Ship, Destroys Baltimore Pier

BALTIMORE, Jan. 16 (AP).—The old troopship which took Woodrow Wilson to Europe in 1918 was gutted tonight by a raging eight-alarm fire that swept Baltimore's south waterfront and injured four firemen, none seriously.

The flames, swept by 40-mile winds, also destroyed a $5,000,000 empty ammunition pier, and burned a large tug and barges of equipment collected for work on the Chesapeake Bay bridge.

The 40-year-old transport George Washington caught fire after flames swept along the 1,000-foot timber pier from a small blaze in a shack at the head of the pier.

A tug trying to nose between the burning pier and the George Washington caught fire itself and had to be abandoned.

Later efforts freed the ship and a sister transport, the Gen. Edmund B. Alexander. The Alexander was towed to safety and did not catch fire.

Both the old vessels had been decommissioned.

It was on the George Washington that President Wilson traveled at the end of the Great War to attend the Versailles Peace Conference.

Allied Combat Team Thrust Harasses Communist Forces

TOKIO, Jan. 17 (Wednesday) (AP).—A fast-moving Allied combat team, paced by tanks and fiery air attacks, jabbed into Suwon, 17 air miles south of Communist-occupied Seoul, Tuesday to harass three Chinese Communist armies massing for a new onslaught in South Korea.

Uncovering an apparent weakness on the west flank of the Chinese forces, the Eighth Army smashed a small Communist unit of 100 men inside Suwon's ancient walls, then pulled back after dusk to defensive positions south of the town.

FRONT FLUID

It was the second straight day of sharp, aggressive actions which the Eighth Army termed "reconnaissance in force."

Armor-led infantry entered Osan, 28 air miles south of Seoul, Monday, then swerved northeast nine miles and captured Kumyangjang and nearby Chon.

The whole Korean front was so fluid that Eighth Army censors ordered correspondents to refrain from identifying any units below army level.

Apparently one purpose of the Eighth Army's lightning left jabs in the west was to throw off balance the typically-slow Chinese buildup of an estimated 120,000 men south of the Han River.

The strikes in the west coincided with the withdrawal of United Nations forces from the 16-day-old Wonju salient in Central Korea.

American, French and Netherlands troops, in hard fighting there for 11 days, plugged the two best highways leading south through the snow-antled Sobaek Mountains.

The gallant stand was ended to straighten Eighth Army lines, a communique announced Tuesday night. It said a new phase of the Korean war was developing.

The communique also said a United Nations force has dispersed 200 Reds 20 miles northwest of Samchok, some 43 miles down the east coast from the 38th Parallel. This was the first action reported in the east coast sector in almost two weeks.

NEW SOLID FUEL BOON TO BUSY HOUSEWIFE

More and more Victoria home owners are using Gasco Briquets to provide heat for their homes, according to local coal dealers. This new fuel has really taken hold and if the demand continues it will displace coal to a very large extent.

The reasons are obvious. They are made from pure carbon extracted from oil. No ashes to waste time, to waste money. They're all heat! No other solid fuel can begin to give the home owner the convenience and economy of Gasco Briquets. This fuel burns steadily, with a rosy, cosy glow that keeps your home uniformly warm from morning to night. And with less work.

You fill your furnace just twice a day—forget it the rest of the time. No ashes to carry out ever, and it gives the same carefree heat whether burned in furnace, fireplace, heater or range. That's why the busy housewife likes Gasco Briquets. Available at Victoria Wood & Coal Co., G 2441.

Mrs. Mae H. Bell, Liverpool, Queen's Co., Nova Scotia, attended a party a few months ago, and in the course of her conversation with some other women, told them how she had relieved arthritic pain by taking SARNAK after having suffered with the pain for almost three years. Two of the women suffered with arthritis themselves, and when Mrs. Bell spoke of SARNAK and her own experience, they told her she should have us publish her own statement, so here, in her own words, is what Mrs. Bell has to say:

"I suffered from arthritic pain for three years, and last Spring suffered pain so much in my shoulder, arm, fingers and ankles that I could hardly stand it. I tried different kinds of pills and medicines, but nothing gave me relief. Then a friend told me to try SARNAK. I took eight bottles of SARNAK and almost from the beginning I had relief. Now I wouldn't be without SARNAK in the house, and I am glad to tell everyone what SARNAK has done to bring me relief."

YES, YOU SHOULD TRY SARNAK as have thousands of others in Canada who suffer from rheumatic, neuritic and arthritic pain, sciatica, backache, lumbago or neuralgia, some minor form of kidney and liver upsets, bilious dizzy spells, nutritional anemia, lack of vitality and nervousness caused by these symptoms. SARNAK is so effective for aches and pains and general rundown condition that you usually get results within the first few days.

Make up your mind to give SARNAK a chance to help you as it has helped thousands of others who had gone on day after day suffering. Thousands of bottles of SARNAK are sold every day in Canada. Remember, there are no substitutes for SARNAK. Always insist on the genuine SARNAK. In some rural sections where there are few drug stores, SARNAK may be difficult to obtain. Don't pay anyone more than $1.35 a bottle. Order by mail from your druggist or mail order house to assure yourself not paying grey market prices. If one druggist does not have SARNAK, try another.

"Keep Horseshoe for Years—Still Have Fire"

Toy You, victim of yesterday's Chinatown fire, has lost faith in horseshoe's luck. He is shown with Fireman Alfred Adamson as he retrieved horseshoe from ruins. Two Chinese tenants were taken to hospital.

Trouble Crews Still at Work As Travel Returns to Normal

While transportation facilities returned to normal yesterday, power and telephone company crews still worked to restore services to Victoria and surrounding areas following Monday's storm, the worst since 1934.

B.C. Telephone officials said last night there are still 30 poles to be rightened in the city and more than that in Saanich. The company is having trouble restoring Belmont, Keating and Colquitz exchanges to trunk lines in operation.

Some lines north of Cobble Hill still were not completely repaired but all available men were working day and night with only four hours' sleep.

There are still several hundred telephones out of order in Victoria. Sooke was cut off from Victoria early yesterday, but service was restored by means of a radio link.

The Colonist managed to place calls to Campbell River, Courtenay, Nanaimo, Lake Cowichan and Duncan, but the calls were routed via Vancouver.

MAIN LINES FIRST

"We aren't able to give an overall picture of the work that needs to be done. We must first clear trees and poles off highways and get main lines up before we start fixing individual calls," a telephone official said.

About 200 telephones are out of order in Port Alberni, 50 or 60 in Parksville. Vancouver-to-Nanaimo and Victoria-to-Vancouver service has been restored.

The B.C. Electric Company said there are still some places without power, mostly in the Cobble Hill, Cedar Hill and Shawnigan Lake areas.

A B.C.E. spokesman said restoration of service in the large areas was the first objective.

"It is undoubtedly the worst task of repairing that we have faced in 30 years," he said.

REGRET FAILURE

The company regretted the failure in power service, he said, but with the men working almost around the clock, they could only do so much.

More lines will be back in operation today, he said, and if they are not all repaired it won't be for lack of trying.

"The men are almost dead on their feet. They were out until 3 a.m. Tuesday morning and up again at 7 a.m. We're not apologizing, as we're doing all we can."

B.C. Electric crews tried to get over the Malahat late yesterday afternoon but were forced back. The road was blocked by stalled cars.

The company warned the public to keep away from downed power lines, and to report them immediately.

Conditions on the Malahat were reported "pretty good" by officials of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines. The Victoria and Nanaimo offices reported that all buses had arrived on schedule. No buses were delayed, but road conditions called for caution and skid chains.

Island Freight Service reported that all its trucks had managed to get through.

Public Works Minister E. C. Carson said "a little difficulty" was being encountered on the side roads, but that snowploughs had been out on the main highways and icy spots had been sanded.

Trans-Canada Airlines reported that all flights but the one to Seattle had taken off yesterday. The 2 p.m. plane from Vancouver was delayed half an hour due to bad winds.

The E. & N. Railway ran two trains on schedule and two others were an hour and a half late. Two trains were stopped while fallen trees were cleared from the line near Qualicum and Union Bay.

The C.P.R.'s Princess Joan was half an hour late from Seattle. The midnight boat left on time.

Too Few Register

Astronomy Course Canceled by College

Cancellation of a scheduled course in descriptive astronomy has been announced by Prof. R. T. Wallace, director of non-credit evening lectures at Victoria College.

Registration for the proposed ten-lecture course was insufficient to begin classes, which were to start tonight, Prof. Wallace said.

"It is the first course we've had to cancel since the non-credit classes began three years ago," he said.

Registration in other courses totals more than 150, however, and lectures on "It's Your Money," start Thursday night.

Other courses are "Landscaping Your Home," "History of Vancouver Island," "Conversational French," "Group Dynamics," and "Accounting for Lawyers."

"It was with a great deal of regret we canceled the astronomy course, and we very much appreciated the fine co-operation we received from Dr. J. A. Pearce and other astronomers at the observatory, who drew up the schedule," Prof. Wallace said.

PROVINCIAL COURT

Three persons appeared in Provincial Police court yesterday on charges of failing to secure timber loads properly.

Beer Singh, who pleaded guilty, was fined $10 and $4.50 costs. Similar charges against Robert Henry Hallet and Donald Bates were dismissed.

A fine of $10 and $4.50 costs was imposed on H. D. Hardy who pleaded guilty to driving with inadequate brakes. Pleading guilty to a charge of failing to have a motor carrier's licence, William P. Pendott was fined $10 and $3 costs.

Children's Art Display Coming Gallery Feature

The Victoria Arts Centre will present a display of 30 pictures by American school children Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week.

The paintings are contributions to the American Junior Red Cross art exhibit plan which encourages the exchange of pictures between the students of different countries. It is an extension of the Junior Red Cross international correspondence program which, for the past decade or so, has worked to foster a betterment of human relations and understanding among the young people of the world.

PHASES OF LIFE

The pictures deal with many phases of ordinary human life and were selected for a tour of British Columbia schools through the Provincial Junior Red Cross organization.

Some are lively reflections of skating, shopping and playing games; others are impressionistic and show well the power of paint, canvas and youth to portray a people or a generation. Originality and color are strongly predominant throughout.

ENCOURAGE WORK

The object of the display is to encourage students of all ages to do as many original sketches and paintings as they possibly can. Since the American and Canadian Junior Red Cross have arranged for the collection, screening and distribution of art work, or display and exchange, the individual student may readily find his objective in the Junior Red Cross art program.

Motorists Grow Interested In Storm-Damage Insurance

Not more than ten per cent of Victoria's automobile owners have "miscellaneous hazard" insurance coverage, but city agencies are answering scores of queries from worried drivers after Monday's storm.

One of the largest automobile insurance concerns in the city has had seven claims filed by car owners who had their vehicles damaged by falling trees, and windshields splintered by flying branches.

Protection from storm damage is not included in the standard car insurance policy, but for an extra dollar a year, coverage for a great variety of "acts of God," such as hurricanes, tornadoes and falling aircraft, is provided.

"We usually try to convince our clients of the value of this clause. A lot of them who thought it was a needless expense are changing their minds since Monday," said one insurance agency manager.

"In view of the grave financial situation of the association this year, it would be greatly appreciated if the City of Victoria could and the association by granting us the amount of $2,500," M. F. Hunter, association chairman, stated in a letter to council.

Mr. Sprinkling's opponent was Douglas Stewart, 1455 Hillside.

Coin-Gobbling Meter Shocks City Drivers

This is a story about an ungrateful parking meter.

It may have been the effect of the recent turbulent weather which caused it to act up. At any rate, several motorists can testify that "it did act up."

Sometime yesterday the cantankerous parking meter started giving motorists electric shocks. One car owner, who had deposited a nickel and received an electrified jolt, complained bitterly to a traffic policeman.

Dubious, the policeman accompanied the motorist to the belligerent meter, inserted a coin and also received a rude shock.

The shocking situation was solved when city light department employees found the base of the meter had been touching underground wiring, causing a short and the resulting electric shock to motorists.

Milk Price Increase Sharp Blow to Consumer

THE fact that price control does not operate in favor of the general public and that the consumer is made the goat for everything that can possibly be labelled as the effects of inflation is borne out again by the two-cents a quart increase in standard and special milk which will apply in the Greater Victoria area tomorrow. The edict of British Columbia's Milk Board, awarding the larger part of that increase to the middleman, will probably incense the farmer just as much as it will do the householder with a family of children who must have fresh milk.

It is small use blaming Mr. Carr. The moment British Columbia put its milk marketing into the one-spout system it became certain that competition would wane, the position of the middleman would wax, and that farther and farther apart would be the spread between what the dairyman needed to survive and the consumers at the end of the chain asked to pay.

That has been well borne out by the facts of the last few years. Dairy herd after herd has been sold on Vancouver Island because the producers could not make ends meet. Larger and larger have grown the concentrations of milk for distribution into co-operative and other hands. Instead of this reducing the price to the consumer it has gone the other way. The public has been asked to pay ever-increasing sums for its milk. Nor does the operation of a multiple price system, with different rates for schools, hospitals, commerce and so forth, do much to change the incidence of the eventual load on the consumer.

This latest price increase, satisfying neither farmer nor consumer, will find its way into legislative committee rooms one month hence as a political boomerang which may return to its sender, the one-man milk board.

Mr. Nehru Oversimplifies the Situation

PRIME Minister Nehru is reported as saying the United Nations can be saved and a third world war averted only if Communist China is admitted to the United Nations and officially recognized as one of the great powers. This is perhaps an over-simplification of the situation. Mr. Nehru is himself an Asiatic, and his concern over China is as understandable as his efforts for peace are sincere. Yet his very solution is paradoxical.

Possibly Red China would be satisfied to call off the Korean war if given a seat on the Security Council and ranking as one of the Big Five. Probably she ought to have been granted this recognition a year ago, but her intervention in Korea has altered the perspective. Were she now to be rewarded thus it would mean that blackmail and force are passports to membership in a world organization designed to counteract these very evils. This might appease China, but it is not easy to see that it would save the United Nations. More likely it would be its death knell.

Nor, of course, is there any guarantee that with appeasement of Communist China the threat of another world conflict would evaporate. It is not Red China that will determine this, but Soviet Russia, the real factor behind Korea as behind Indo-China, Malaya, Germany and every other place where tension reigns. Surrender to Red China might even invite in some of these places the danger it would be meant to avert.

China is the focal point of world affairs at the moment, and how peaceful relations with her can be mutually concluded no one on the highest levels seems to know, short of adoption of Mr. Nehru's proposal. But China is only one phase of the long-range struggle between the Soviet Union and the Western Powers. That cannot be overlooked.

Symphony Versus Jive for Teen-Agers

SOMETHING new in extra-curricular activity for students of junior high school grades and up has been inaugurated by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra with the approval and assistance of the Greater Victoria School Board. Under a junior symphony membership plan students have an opportunity this Winter to hear the full orchestra in two concerts specially arranged for their benefit. To the pleasure the first of these programs brought to a young audience Mr. Hans Gruber added explanatory comment to impart an understanding of the meaning of symphonic music and thereby create a broader appreciation of it.

Here is musical education in its most beguiling form. It is pointless to deplore the influence of "jive" and "boogie-woogie" if nothing is done to provide something better for youthful entertainment. It is a mistake also to assume that young devotees of the jukeboxes are incapable of appreciating music in its highest form. The spontaneous enthusiasm with which this new junior symphony membership received the excellent program presented at the first of their own special concerts was convincing evidence of an inherent love of symphonic music that for too long has lacked an avenue of expression.

The School Board has done a splendid thing for the youth of the community by sponsoring this endeavor initiated by Mr. Gruber. The two concerts arranged this Winter are in the nature of an experiment, and it is to be hoped that as time goes on it will be made possible for the field to be widened.

THAT HALF-CENTURY

Sir,—The controversy as to whether the half-century terminated December 31, 1949, or December 31, 1950, has been both interesting and amusing.

Perhaps the question could be clarified in the minds of some by counting the years of a century in the same manner that we count the hours on a clock.

The period of time between 12 midnight and 1:00 a.m. is the first hour of the day, but it is not 1:00 o'clock until the hour hand reaches the figure 1. Just after the stroke of one we start on the second hour, but say it is one o'clock and so many seconds or minutes, or both.

If we were to draw a diagram similar to the face of a clock, but marked off in 100 equal sections, instead of twelve, it could represent a century.

At the end of one century and the beginning of another, the year hand would stand at 100. The space between 100 and 1 would be the first year and in our century would be called 1900.

One year would be completed December 31, 1900; two years would be completed December 31, 1901. Therefore, 50 years would be completed December 31, 1949, and 100 years will be completed December 31, 1999, and the new century will start January 1, 2000, as the year-hand again stands at 100 on our imaginary clock.

All of which proves conclusively that the half-century terminated December 31, 1949.

(MRS. F.) HAZEL WHITE.

MODERN ART

Sir,—I am not fully in accordance with your correspondents on the subject of modern art. Recently Mr. A. R. Davidson, who apparently classifies himself among "the seasoned and experienced critics," accuses our Canadian artists of imitating the "decadent French moderns" and of being completely meaningless.

If he wishes to see replicas of this country's scenery I should advise him to visit our very excellent photographic shows and not our art galleries.

The mission of an artist is to create, not to copy; to have complete freedom to express his individual reaction to his subject matter.

Why must the general public demand the work of art "look like" something readily identifiable, preferably resemble it as closely as possible? Why can't the picture have sufficient power to stand alone, complete in itself; an expression of inner being, our fears, our dreams, our beliefs. (Not a mere outward copy of objects.)

I'm sure if your correspondent will further his study and eventual appreciation of contemporary art by learning to recognize design and—color relationships, rhythmic qualities, relationships of construction and forms within the pictures he will no longer find them uninteresting.

Paintings by modern Canadian artists may not be pretty, but they have the beauty of vitality, power and freedom of expression. They are true to the age in which we live.

Ode to the West Wind

O wild West Wind, thou breath of Autumn's being,
Thou, from whose unseen presence the leaves dead
Are driven, like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing,

Yellow, and black, and pale, and hectic red,
Pestilence-stricken multitudes: O thou,
Who chariotest in their dark wintry bed

The winged seeds, where they lie cold and low,
Each like a corpse within its grave, until
Thine azure sister of the spring shall blow

Her clarion o'er the dreaming earth, and fill
(Driving sweet buds like flocks to feed in air)
With living hues and odours plain and hill:

Wild Spirit, which art moving everywhere;
Destroyer and preserver; hear, O hear!

By TOM TAYLOR

THE small yellow card tells me I am "entitled to draw books from the Victoria Public Library," but the last date stamped thereon rebukes me.

It reads "May 10, 1950."

Not since then, apparently, have I borrowed a single volume. I have been in frequent touch with Miss Clay's staff in the interval, nevertheless. Often I importune Miss Pollock and her colleagues of the reference department with teasers. At least I think each one a teaser until the ever prompt reply reveals my mistake. Nothing seems to puzzle these public librarians.

This is not quite the same thing, of course, as dipping myself into the treasures that line the library shelves, and I shall have to repair the omission at an early date. For a book browser nothing is more delectable than a leisurely hour or two spent sampling a score or more volumes. The actual carrying away of a book is, in a sense, anticlimax.

In Victoria, that is. When in my youth I haunted libraries the procedure was much different.

* * *

I can recall countless hours in half-a-dozen public libraries in the large city of my upbringing. Borrowing a book, however, was not quite so inviting a business there as here, for the reason that you weren't allowed near the shelves. Hygienic, I suppose, but an abstract proposition.

You had to pick the volume you wanted out of an index. There were a dozen of these large registers, prudently chained to desks. Opposite each book listed in the index was a number, and after making your selection you turned to a large glass panel filled with all the book numbers, and with a thin black or white strip showing beneath each number. White meant that the book was in; black that it was out. The book itself you got by quoting the number to a clerk.

You therefore could not, as one does at the Victoria Public Library, thumb through a few pages to see if the contents of a book appealed to you. Unless you knew the author you took a decided chance in making a choice.

The browsing in those days, as a result, took place in the reading rooms, of which fortunately there were many. I must have dreamed away months of moments, in my time.

* * *

Quiet moments they were, too, as are all public library moments. One instinctively lowers the voice in a library, as though the vast learning on the shelves compels you to near-silence. One immense mausoleum I remember was known as the Mitchell Library, which as a boy I entered only with the deepest awe. It hushed my very marrow, and I never felt comfortable; I was too young then. I daresay, and the scholarly heads bent over huge tomes made me aware of my ignorance.

The years of book borrowing that followed man's estate cured me of awe, although I still feel respectful in the company of so much immortality. Anyway, a library is no place for undue levity.

Yet a library, and such a one as the Victoria Public Library, is a warm, soothing and friendly institution. The boy or man (or the girl or woman too, of course) who is a stranger to its rooms is missing something his money cannot buy—the intimate acquaintance of a thousand fine minds and a personal enrichment that will stay with him till the day he dies.

Granted all this, then, why does my yellow card rebuke me with the date "May 10, 1950." Alas, I don't know, but I can do something about it. And I certainly will once Miss Clay moves her staff into the new building rising high at the corner of Yates and Blanshard.

International Commentary . . .

How Far Can the Big Four Meeting Go?

By W. N. EWER

LONDON — The three Western Powers are deferring judgment on the Soviet note of New Year's Eve until their Embassies in Moscow have asked for a "clarification" of its meaning. That is very necessary for the note is, in some respects, decidedly obscure.

It is remarkable, for example, and can hardly be accidental, that it avoids any direct reference to the main point of the Three-Power notes of December 22.

The Russians, it will be remembered, had on November 3 proposed a meeting of the Council of Foreign Ministers to consider the demilitarization of Germany. The British, French and United States Governments had replied in effect that they felt that a conference restricted to so narrow a field would be ineffective; that what was required was a discussion of the principal causes of the existing international tension of which the German problems were only a part.

This suggestion of a wider conference the Soviet reply passes over in silence. It neither accepts it nor rejects it, nor even discusses it. It repeats the original proposal of November 3, adding that it is "agreeable to discussing other questions also pertaining to Germany." But that was already in fact implied, though not definitely stated, in the earlier note.

* * *

What then is the position? Has the Soviet Government in fact rejected the Three-Power proposal for a wider agenda? Is it still insisting that if the Council of Foreign Ministers meets, its discussions must be limited to "problems pertaining to Germany"? That would be a straightforward interpretation of the note. It may prove to be a correct interpretation. But it is not entirely certain. And the three Governments want to make sure before taking any further steps.

Then there is the second paragraph of the note, seemingly important but certainly obscure:

"In making this proposal, the Soviet Government proceeded not merely from the necessity of holding just a conference of four ministers with the sole purpose of consulting on various questions, but from the necessity of convening precisely the Council of Ministers of Foreign Affairs to examine the question pertaining to the competence of the Council of Foreign Ministers composed as above."

Some elucidation of that cryptic statement is evidently needed before we can know just what the whole note means.

The first impression, though it may have to be revised, is that the Soviet Government still wants a meeting which will deal with Germany alone and that it will not agree to inclusion on the agenda of any but the German question or, at any rate, "questions pertaining to Germany."

If that proves to be so, should the Three Powers having made their effort to have a wider discussion accept or decline the narrower one? That is the question which will have to be answered if this proves to be the choice.

There are some who think that a limited conference would be better than none. The Times, for example, suggests that to limit the talks to Germany "need not be altogether in their disfavor"; that it might indeed "be better to concentrate on concrete matters."

There is something to be said for that. But the real issue is not whether the field of discussion shall be wide or narrow. It is whether the aim of the Soviet Foreign Minister in the discussions will be to seek ways and means of easing the international tension or merely to use the council chamber as a battleground for the polemics of the "cold war."

* * *

One's memories of Mr. Molotov's use of two meetings of this council in 1947 (one in Moscow, one in London) are not reassuring. Mr. Malik's use of the U.N. Security Council and the General Assembly is even more disquieting since it is more recent. Russia, at the moment, seems to have little desire to seek for settlement and a great deal of desire to use every occasion for hot controversy and for vehement attacks on the Western Powers.

And, as always, to regard every meeting and every negotiation as an opportunity for attempts to create and exploit divisions between the Western Powers.

Nor does the tone of the notes suggest that there is any change in the Russian intention. Its accusations against the Western Powers, both in their violence and in their disregard of the facts, are very reminiscent of Mr. Molotov. The apparent demand that the Prague program for Germany laid down by the Soviet Government and its satellites in October shall be the basis for any settlement suggests a desire for new conflict rather than for new agreement. Nor can one avoid the suspicion that the purpose of the whole manoeuvre may be to secure delays and postponements in the organizing of the N.A.T.O. defence system in Western Europe, while Russia is completing her own military organization of the East.

Rabbie the Red

(From The Globe and Mail, Toronto)

NO doubt it will bring great joy to hearts of all people of Scottish descent to learn that the local Communists have put their stamp of approval on Robert Burns. Not only that, but the kindly Commies have decided to give the poor Ayrshire plowman a break and bring his works to the attention of the people . . . pardon, we keep forgetting the idiom . . . the masses. Their intention is to "recapture" him for the working class at a gala Burns night affair on January 26. Too long, they have declared, has Burns been the feted darling of the bourgeoise. Too long has his hatred of war, of prejudice, injustice and special privilege been buried. Too long has Burns been painted as the lyric poet who wrote only of love.

Somehow this sinister plot against the Scottish bard has escaped our notice. What rascally group has been burying the content of his poems and by what means? Who has been painting him as a lyric poet who wrote only of love, a subject, incidentally, which even the Commies must admit received considerable of his attention with the pen and otherwise? Certainly we had not realized that Burns was the feted darling only of the bourgeoise. A lot of people have come to read and admire the works of the poet by way of the lowly library card, a possession which few, probably, realized placed them on the wrong side in the class-struggle.

In picking Burns for their sponsorship, the local Communists would seem to have picked the wrong man. True, he stood against prejudice and injustice. He also stood for personal independence, and freedom, and the dignity of the individual, matters somewhat foreign to the Communist line. Also, he was mightily opposed to snivelling sneaks and double-dealers, and, consequently, would not have been pleasant company for those who now try to use his name as sucker-bait. In the circumstances, it is pretty grand of the Commies to have bothered themselves with the fellow.

SOME Ontario farmers argue that a barn is the most important building because a dwelling can be maintained only by means of revenue from the land and livestock sheltered in the barn. Many Manitoba farmers believe that if a barn is large, well-painted and in good repair, it is proof that the farmer is running the show. If the house is in good shape and covered by a recent coat of paint, it means the farmer's wife has all the say. If both house and barn are in good condition, it indicates the income tax inspector has not been around. . . . From the Keating Squire: "The thought struck me that it would be a simple matter to increase collections in churches and thus provide adequate funds for maintenance and minister's salaries. Instead of a collection plate some kind of box could be devised for the benefit of the faithful. Half-dollars and quarters would drop softly upon velvet, but nickels, dimes and coppers would ring a bell." . . . "I was misquoted" is a very easy way out for any person who said publicly in the heat of the moment that which he came to regret later during a period of cool consideration. . . . From a Scot: "The early English did not become explorers to promote trade, acquire colonies, or just for the sake of visiting strange parts of the world. They were simply seeking the sun. They were trying to find a place where it was warm, in order to escape the leaden skies and cold drizzle of their native land. Records of several centuries ago show that the climate of England was far more damp than the weather of today." . . . Some parts of the world are reported to be suffering from density of population. Actions of some show they suffer from density above the ears.

25 YEARS AGO — St. Joseph's Hospital authorities are preparing to start construction of an addition to the present hospital, to cost a sum in excess of $100,000.

50 YEARS AGO—Little or no interest was taken in the nominations for mayor, aldermen and school trustees. Mayor Hayward was re-elected by acclamation, as were three of the aldermen.

Huge New U.S. Budget Warning to Reds

INTERPRETING THE NEWS

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. News Analyst

President Truman's budget message proposing $60,000,000,000 for defence is the greatest warning yet handed the Kremlin against pursuit of its expansionist policies.

It is concrete reassurance to the Allies of the United States.

And it also serves notice on the American people of the tests to which their support of the idea of collective security is to be put in the coming years.

No artificial controls or economic measures can prevent a dropping living standard if such expenditures continue long. Raw materials, capital wealth and manpower which should go into an expanding economy will be diverted for preparedness. If the international tension continues year after year, as it well may, pinches in consumer goods will become gouges.

EUROPE AMAZED

Europe, an example of what happens to living standards in an area which constantly devotes vast resources to military establishments, is amazed at the calm confidence with which the United States can face such a prospect.

A deal with the Kremlin could be achieved, at least for a time, by the sacrifice of all principle and the formal division of the world into spheres of influence.

But this would not be a division merely into "free" and "slave" spheres, with the lion and the lamb lying down together. The threat from the "slave" sphere would continue, and one or more powers would have to exploit the "free" sphere to maintain the balance. The United States, wanting no part of that, will instead try to carry a tremendous part of the load of defence against aggression.

There has been no such test of the United States since the years of pain which accompanied its birth.

LONDON, Jan. 16 (Reuters)—A swan caused a major traffic jam today.

Cars, trucks and buses screeched to a halt when the swan waddled across Blackfriars bridge—one of the busiest in London. Moments earlier it had flown into the side of a truck.

Police and pedestrians shooed it off the bridge and chased it down a sidestreet.

When last seen the swan—on foot—was outdistancing its pursuers.

Municipality Finds House Not in Order

BURNABY, B.C., Jan. 16 (CP).—A few things were wrong with a vacant municipally-owned house.

It was declared structurally unsound, the chimney was condemned, the foundation, flooring and joists were decomposed, and the plumbing and electric wiring condemned.

But that was not all. The house is infested with vermin and unfit for human habitation.

A civic committee recommended demolition by fire. The council approved the recommendation.

Success Seen For Tax Move

REGINA, Jan. 16 (CP).—Alex Aiken, commissioner of the Regina Chamber of Commerce, said today proposals for British North America Act amendments to allow a Provincial indirect sales tax are likely to be accepted.

Mr. Aiken said he could not disclose the source of his information.

But he said a sales tax limit of three per cent on retail sales might be set.

The chamber commissioner spoke to the Regina District Association of Rural Municipalities. The proposal to which he referred was advanced at the last Dominion-Provincial fiscal conference.

Earlier, a director of the Provincial Association, P. O. Peterson, said he believed the Saskatchewan Government has abandoned plans to form larger municipal units.

He said he thought the municipalities themselves would have to ask for the move before the Provincial Government would bring it up. He said public opinion generally seemed against the idea.

Three States Seek Custody Of Desperado

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Three states sought custody today of Bill Cook, suspected slayer of eight persons who was captured in Mexico after a two-week international manhunt. He is held without bail pending a Federal hearing set for January 29.

Cook, who contends he can remember nothing about the Carl Mosser family he is accused of slaying, told reporters he could not recall the names of his parents, where he was born or where he went to school.

The bodies of the five members of the Mosser family were found Monday in an abandoned mine shaft near Cook's former home in Joplin, Mo., at about the time the capture of the desperado was announced in Mexico.

CRINGES

Cook cringed today at the sight of a hypodermic needle.

He refused to permit the injection of penicillin at the county jail until he was assured it was intended for his good and not to "put me out." He is being treated for dysentery.

Cook, 25-year-old ex-convict and Blythe, Calif., dishwasher before he became a hunted desperado, was deported from Mexico Monday after his capture there.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation arraigned him here on federal charges of kidnaping and flight to avoid prosecution for murder and robbery.

SENDS WARRANT

U.S. Attorney Robert E. Shelton at Oklahoma City airmailed a warrant to California for Cook's return to Oklahoma for prosecution there on the kidnaping charge. It carries a possible death penalty.

Police at Joplin proposed that Cook be brought here.

He is also wanted in California on a charge of murdering Robert E. Dewey, 33, Seattle salesman, January 6 and fleeing into Mexico with his victim's automobile. It was the basis for the federal murder-flight arraignment.

Cook told newspapermen he got drunk Christmas Eve and "might have been anywhere after that."

Fire Damage $5,000,000 In Anchorage

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Jan. 16 (AP).—Alaska Railroad officials today set the fire loss of the road's car repair shop at $5,000,000.

Flames which raced through the shop and adjacent buildings were brought under control early this morning by firefighters working in 26 degrees below zero weather.

The damage estimate was set by J. P. Johnson, general manager of the railroad, which runs from Fairbanks to Seward, at the south end of the Kenai Peninsula.

He said that an investigation into the cause of the fire had been opened, and that the possibility of sabotage was not being overlooked.

The fire was the first of three major blazes to break out in the city within a 12-hour period. Two restaurants were destroyed by flames later in the morning. One of them, Thompson's Restaurant, was one of the largest in the area.

Tweedsmuir Warns "Illusions" Could Lead to Red Conquest

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (CP).—A British peer who was wounded as a Canadian soldier in Sicily said today the democracies are in a race against time and if they lose it will be primarily their own fault.

Lord Tweedsmuir, 39-year-old son of the former Governor-General, told Ottawa's Canadian Club the West "must awake to its danger" and must avoid five major illusions which could give Russia the world conquest she is after.

CHANGED COUNTRY

Lord Tweedsmuir left Canada with the army's first overseas contingent 11 years ago and rose to command the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment in Sicily. He said he returned to find Canada a changed country, her resources far better known, her industry tremendous, her identity at last firmly established in the world.

These were the five big illusions he listed:

One was that the size of the Western powers meant something in itself. A second was "the comfortable feeling that democracy is catching—it isn't."

MOST RESPONSIBLE

Democracy was the most responsible of all forms of social structure. Totalitarianism grew because people were not willing to shoulder their responsibilities.

The third illusion was "democracy's historic preference for comfort over security." The fourth was "our power of forgetfulness . . . we forget too soon how wars come and how they could have been avoided."

The fifth was oversimplification, the tendency to believe great problems should be open to solution by swift and easy means.

Gigantic U.S. Bombers Visit British Air Base

LAKENHEATH, Suffolk, England, Jan. 16 (AP).—Six American "global bombers"—giant B-36's which can freight an atom bomb 10,000 miles—roared into this air base today from Texas.

They took off Saturday from Carswell Base, Fort Worth, paused at the Limestone Air Base on Maine's northeastern tip and then flew a course across the Atlantic, dropping practice bombs on the way, the United States Air Force said.

Flying time was about 24 hours for the 7,000-mile distance, though the six gasoline engine-driven propellers and four underslung jets are capable of pushing a B-36 up to 435 miles an hour.

FIRST TRIP

It was the first time the enormous long-range planes had appeared on a mission to Europe. Though they were to return to their home base within four days, their presence revived persistent rumors that such bombers might soon be based in Europe. The group is commanded by Col. Thomas P. Gerrity, commander of the U.S. Eighth Air Force's 11th Bomber Wing.

The Air Force said the flight was for purpose of "routine training." Training missions of the B-36 previously have been limited to Hawaii westward and the eastern fringe of the United States Atlantic Coast.

INTERVALS

The six planes, each with a crew of 15, started from Carswell at intervals to give both day and night take-offs.

They carried the equivalent of complete combat equipment.

After landing, the 90 crew members cleared British customs and then stormed the mess hall for ham and eggs. Unshaven and red-eyed from sleeplessness, they headed for bed.

Oddities

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (CP).—A Fort Coulonge, Que., storekeeper and his wife think there are still honest people in this world.

Mr. and Mrs. Elizee Richard have recovered $2,578 they lost here last November because of the determined efforts of a Montreal real estate man to find the owners of the money.

The Richards drove to Montreal from their home 25 miles west of Ottawa to shop for a new truck.

During their shopping tour, they left a black valise containing papers and the money on the curb and drove away.

They advertised in Montreal newspapers. Edouard Pharon, real estate administrator, watched the ad pages closely to try to find the losers of the satchel he had found.

Finally his quest was ended and he got in touch with the Richards, returning the money in the presence of a notary.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 16 (AP).—Lee Quisenberry, 39, arrested on a charge of speeding, telephoned from the police station asking several friends for assistance in posting bond.

Later one of them, James Baker, 28, was brought to the station—arrested on a speeding charge as he hurried to Quisenberry's aid.

Then another friend, Howard L. Hatfield, 31, showed up. He, too, had been stopped on the way and given a traffic violation summons.

A third friend, Carl Paddock, made it to the station without incident. He posted the bond money.

Carnival Seeks May 24 Pitch

Application of the Canadian Crescent Shows to locate on Arena Way during the week in which May 24 celebrations are held was referred by City Council yesterday to city representatives on the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association.

Alderman Frank Mulliner declared he was "utterly opposed" to allowing the midway to pitch tents on Arena Way.

Mayor Percy George stated he, also, was opposed.

An application of Royal Canadian Shows to use Victoria West Park from September 24 to 29 was referred to the parks committee.

F. E. Winslow Presents Gavel To Nursing Home Auxiliary

The presentation of a gavel was made by Mr. F. E. Winslow, president of the Victoria Nursing Home Board of Directors to Mrs. C. C. Warren, president of the Home Auxiliary, at the annual meeting held following a banquet in the Strathcona Hotel last evening.

Mrs. R. K. Simpson, vice-president, introduced the special guests who included, Mr. and Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. M. Christie, honorary president of the auxiliary; Dr. Laura Holland, Alderman F. Mulliner, Mrs. Wilberforce, matron of the Home; Mr. A. E. Stevens, secretary-treasurer of the Board; Mr. C. F. Banfield, Mrs. F. Mutrie, Dr. J. L. Gayton and Mr. A. Curtis.

OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT

Greetings from the city were brought by Alderman Mulliner.

Mrs. Warren, in her presidential report, showed that the year had been one of outstanding achievement with a good start toward the objective of raising funds for the furnishings of the proposed 100 bed Home addition.

Every month the auxiliary has provided a special treat for the patients. Birthdays were remembered and on all special days such as a Valentine, Easter, Christmas and New Year entertainment was provided.

The annual garden party in June raised $372.40 and the Poinsettia tea in December, $104. A committee was formed under the convenership of Mrs. Brethour to mend and sew for the Home.

The auxiliary now has an active membership of 24 and two associate members.

RAISE $824

The financial report presented by Mrs. J. H. Ratcliffe showed receipts of $824.33 with a balance of $625.71 on hand.

Dr. Holland addressed the meeting briefly and a musical program was enjoyed. Solos were rendered by Mrs. W. H. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. J. Gough. Mrs. J. L. Gayton thanked the artists.

Officers installed were Mrs. M. Christie, honorary president; Mrs. C. C. Warren, president; Mrs. R. K. Simpson, vice-president; Mrs. I. Catterall, secretary; Mrs. J. H. Ratcliffe, treasurer; Mrs. A. Curtis and Mrs. J. L. Gayton, two-year term directors; and Mrs. R. Ferris and Mrs. G. Holt, directors for one year.

Dorothy White Bride Of Cyril William Wallis

The marriage of Dorothy May, younger daughter of Mr. W. H. White, 1717 St. Ann Street, and the late Mrs. White, and Cyril (Cy) William Wallis, youngest son of Mrs. E. A. Wallis and the late Mr. Wallis, 1786 Haultain Street, was solemnized Saturday evening by Rev. William Allan at his home.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of pale blue taffeta fashioned with a large bow at the back and brief shoulder cape. Her long lace mitts and shoulder veil were of matching blue. She carried a posy bouquet of gardenias and red carnations.

Mrs. Nelson Martin, matron of honor, wore a pale mauve net gown with matching headdress and mitts. Her corsage was of pale yellow roses and white hyacinths.

As bridesmaid, Miss Patsy Pye wore a pale pink net dress with matching headdress. Her corsage was of pale blue hyacinths.

The groom was supported by Mr. Nelson Martin.

A reception was held at Terry's for the family and close friends. The bride's table was centred with a two-tier wedding cake embedded in pale pink tulle. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. D. Pye. Miss E. West sang "O Promise Me" at the reception.

For going away the bride changed into a cinnamon-tone afternoon dress with brown coat and accessories and paddy green velvet hat. Mr. and Mrs. Wallis will live at 1448 Bay Street.

The annual meeting will take place at the Y.W.C.A. on February 12 at 2:30 p.m. Mrs. N. A. Yarrow and Mrs. J. Arnott will convene the tea following the meeting.

These include 24 visits to expectant mothers, 449 visits to mothers and new babies, 26 calls to tuberculosis patients, 14 cancer patients were attended, 619 calls were made to people with long-term illnesses, 362 medical and surgical cases were attended, and instructive and general nursing was carried out.

James Bay Club Receives Charter

More than 150 members and friends attended the party held recently by the James Bay Community Association, when it became a chartered club.

The charter was presented to the president, Mr. Harold Ketchel by Alderman F. G. Mullimer, himself a member. Presentations were also made to the treasurer and secretary, Mrs. Kitchel and Mrs. Doris Ewer for their services during the past year.

Mr. A. E. Bayliss of the James Bay Credit Union, spoke briefly.

Entertainment for the evening included the showing of a film, "Japan and Its People," by Captain G. R. Lay of the Naval Dockyard Fire Department, and tricks of magic by Mr. Frank Merryfield.

Master of ceremonies was Mr. George De Kelver, who also organized the serving of refreshments.

Custom of "Manana" Annoys Visitor To Primitive, Volcanic Guatemala

A primitive, colorful country where one can play at escapism, is the way Mrs. Dorothy Williams described Guatemala when she spoke last night to the University Women's Club at the Arts Centre.

Mrs. Williams, who is in charge of the art department of S. J. Willis High School and an artist in her own right, spent several weeks in the Central American country noted chiefly for its ceramics, textiles and production of coffee and bananas.

"It is a primitive land that is [illegible] eruptions and earthquakes," the speaker explained, "and its way of life is so different from our own that it is like another world."

As an art te[illegible] found the wea[illegible] terials, by age[illegible] the most fascinating phases of Guatemalan life. "Each village has its own costume of distinctive weave not duplicated in any other section of the country.

"As a Canadian, one of the most annoying aspects of Guatemalan life was 'manana,' or 'there is always tomorrow'," laughed Mrs. Williams, "and I just had to learn to curb my impatience and relax."

The speaker gave a brief history of the development of the country, which has a population of 3,500,000, pointing out that the first two capitals had been destroyed through floods, volcanic eruptions, pestilence, drought and earthquakes. The present capital, Guatemala City, is [illegible] has withstood the violent onslaughts of nature which destroyed its predecessors.

"Coffee and bananas are the chief [illegible]ural products, with 90 per [illegible] export," said Mrs. Williams.

The markets are the most interesting sections of the villages," observed Mrs. Williams, "and the vendors find great sport in bargaining with the customers. The women would actually be disappointed if one paid the tourist price for goods without some spirited argument.

"Through carrying baskets, containing everything from live poultry to the family wash, on their heads, the women have developed a graceful, almost haughty carriage," the speaker stated, "while the men, usually carrying great loads upon their backs and knitting all the time, walk quite stooped over."

The speaker displayed a number of striking examples of Guatemalan textiles as well as "tourist pieces" of pottery.

Prior to Mrs. Williams' talk, a color film on Guatemala was shown.

President Mrs. J. F. K. English presided over the meeting.

Indian Problems in B.C. Outlined at C.W.L. Meet

Members and friends of the Victoria senior sub-division of the Catholic Women's League had Rev. Father X. Lauzon as guest speaker at the recent meeting.

Mrs. B. Ciceri, convener for education, gave an interesting report on the work being done at the Chinese Catholic Mission, where the sisters care for and instruct 175 children of from 2½ to ten years of age, and in addition teach English to 12 adults.

Clothes for newly arrived D.P.'s were requested by Mrs. W. Rogers, convener for immigration.

At the conclusion of the conveners' reports, Father Lauzon addressed the audience. He outlined the background of the Indian peoples in British Columbia, 250 of whom are in his parish in Brentwood. Good progress was being made, the speaker stated, particularly in the educational field and since the year 1942.

Assimilation will be a slow process—and he reminded his audience that there was no school in 1885; now there was a new three-roomed school with two sisters in charge. Several boys and girls are in attendance at St. Louis College and at St. Ann's Academy, respectively. They were there "not as Indians but to do work, and prepared to hold their own." Indians are good workers, and a proud people. They want to take part in their own development and progress, he concluded.

A vote of thanks to Rev. Father Lauzon was moved by Mrs. W. Rogers.

A musical program was provided by Miss Leona Hanley, soprano, and the C.Y.O. quartette, after which lunch was served.

Council Endorses Wyatt Proposal To Open Committee Talks to Press

City Manager Cecil C. Wyatt yesterday recommended to City Council that the doors of committee meetings be thrown open to newspaper reporters to provide the public with "a much better appreciation of the reason why certain policies are adopted by City Council."

Council endorsed the recommendation, together with four others dealing with the conduct of civic affairs at the committee level.

Mayor Percy George told council that he viewed Mr. Wyatt's recommendations as "a step in the right direction" which he endorsed "wholeheartedly."

Alderman Waldo Skillings termed the city manager's report to council "forthright, businesslike and concise."

"It should help us a great deal in our deliberations."

STIMULATES INTEREST

Referring to the attendance of reporters at committee meetings, Mr. Wyatt declared a sound public relations program stimulated the interest of citizens in all levels of local government.

"It seems to me that it would be of distinct advantage to the city's elected representatives and to the citizens generally if public reporting was permitted at the level where initial discussions take place," stated the city manager. "At present there is a hiatus from the time a communication is referred to committee until it is reported on by council, thereby leaving them to conjecture and possible misconception."

DONE ELSEWHERE

"I strongly suggest that standing committees of council take under consideration that matter of permitting representatives of the press to attend and report upon the discussions that are held at committee level," the city manager continued. "This proposal is neither unusual nor uncommon and has, in fact, been practised in many municipalities for years."

Mr. Wyatt's other recommendations called for:

1. No action on the part of council on communications requiring committee consideration until reported on by relevant standing committees of council, except in cases of urgency or where it is judged the public interest requires dispatch.

EARLIER MEETINGS

2. Holding of regular meetings of standing committees not later than Thursday of the week preceding the [illegible] meetings of council.

3. Distribution of the minutes of all meetings of standing committees to all members of council.

4. Discontinuance of the attendance of department heads at council meetings with the exception of the city clerk, the city solicitor and the comptroller-treasurer.

The city manager said he felt that the holding of committee meetings almost on the eve of a council meeting "precludes sufficient time for members of the council to be completely informed on matters on which they will be asked to give their approval or disapproval."

KEEP INFORMED

In recommending that minutes of committees be put in the hands of every alderman, Mr. Wyatt said all members of council could be kept informed of what each committee was dealing with.

"As all are aware, there are many matters discussed at the committee level that are not reported to council which nevertheless are significant and act as a guide for matters dealt with by other committees," he said.

In regard to attendance of department heads at council meetings, Mr. Wyatt had this to say:

HOURS WASTED

"It has been observed there have been as many as 12 department heads in attendance at council meetings, sitting on the outside of the 'horseshoe' so that they would be 'on hand' should any questions arise necessitating their opinion or advice. Calculated in terms of 'man-hours' it is considerable and represents several thousand dollars in the course of each year, an expenditure that could be utilized to better advantage in the administration of their respective departments."

Rezoning On Gorge Approved

The Gorge rezoning by-law was given final passage yesterday by City Council.

The by-law designates as a commercial zone property on the south side of the Gorge Road, from the Victoria Nursing Home to the C.N.R. crossing.

The measure will also permit construction by J. P. J. Godreau of a proposed $150,000 auto court [illegible] Washington Avenue and Irma Street. Mr. Godreau's application for rezoning of his property to permit construction of an auto court has long been a source of controversy in civic circles.

OBJECTIONS HEARD

Passage of the by-law was preceded by a public hearing which heard the objections of seven persons, several of them auto court operators who claimed that because of city zoning regulations they had been forced in the past to locate outside city limits. They claimed a change in zoning restrictions now would have harmful effects on their business.

The by-law was supported by Mayor Percy George, Aldermen William Pinfold, Frank Mulliner, Dr. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. Margaret Christie, Mrs. Hilda Baxter and Millard Mooney.

Only opposition came from Alderman Waldo Skillings.

Alderman Aubrey Kent, who explained he had not been a member of the 1950 council which debated the issue, left the council "horseshoe" for the vote.

Alderman Percy Scurrah was absent from yesterday's council meeting.

Welfare Agent Left to Mayor

Appointment of a City Council representative to the Community Welfare Council of Greater Victoria was left by council yesterday in the hands of Mayor Percy George.

The Welfare Council last week asked council to name a representative to serve on the organization.

Endorsed by Council

Mayor Names Members Of Standing Committees

Standing committees of Council as recommended by Mayor Percy George were endorsed yesterday by City Council.

The mayor recommended the appointments despite a statement in his inaugural address that he could not see his way clear to make appointments until after the forthcoming by-election.

"I have come to the conclusion that it will be in the best interests of this council for me to do so as soon as possible," he stated yesterday.

PRESSURE

"This change of view on my part is brought about by the pressure of committee work that is developing, and the fact that, in my opinion, I will not be free to chair meetings that will be required to deal with the amount of such work that is in the immediate offing," explained the mayor.

He said his decision was also based on the fact that results of the by-election may not be known until about February 8.

Members of the various committees are:

Finance, lands, housing, market, public utilities, inter-municipal: Mayor George, chairman; Ald. Dr. J. D. Hunter, Frank Mulliner, Waldo Skillings, William Pinfold.

Legislative, fire wardens, zoning: Ald. Mulliner, chairman; Ald. Aubrey Kent, vice-chairman; Mrs. Hilda Baxter.

Public works, lighting, signal services, water, harbor: Ald. Hunter, chairman; Ald. Percy Scurrah, vice-chairman; Millard Mooney.

Parks, boulevards, recreation facilities: Ald. Pinfold, chairman; Ald. Baxter, vice-chairman; Mrs. Margaret Christie.

Health, social welfare, Aged Men's Home: Ald. Christie, chairman; alderman to be elected at by-election, vice-chairman; Ald. Kent.

Transportation, traffic, public safety: Ald. Skillings, chairman; Ald. Mooney, vice-chairman; Ald. Scurrah.

Special committees (first named in each case to be chairman):

Gorge Canal: Ald. Scurrah, Pinfold.

Greater Victoria Amalgamation Research: Ald. Skillings, Mulliner, Mayor George.

Study of Trades Licence Fees: Ald. Mooney, Scurrah, Baxter.

Civil Defence Regional Control Board: Ald. Kent, Pinfold, Skillings.

Former alderman B. J. Gadsden was named city representative to the British Columbia Aviation Council.

Engineer to Come From Vancouver For Bridge Interview With Council

J. R. Grant, Vancouver consulting engineer, will meet City Council in City Hall at 9:30 a.m. Saturday to discuss plans for the new Point Ellice bridge.

The decision to call the Vancouver engineer to Victoria for a personal interview was reached during a meeting of council yesterday.

Alderman Aubrey Kent and Alderman William Pinfold both declared that the dimensions of the bridge had not been fully considered by council.

They won council support to defeat Public Works Committee recommendations which would have immediately authorized Mr. Grant to prepare detailed plans for a four-lane bridge with 30-foot clearance and graded approaches.

VANCOUVER TRIP

The committee had also asked council to authorize City Engineer Cyril Jones to go to Vancouver today to confer with Mr. Grant on plans and cost.

Alderman Kent said he wanted to be assured that Mr. Grant was the right man for the job.

Mayor Percy George said there could be no doubt but that Mr. Grant was Western Canada's foremost specialist in bridge construction.

Ald. Waldo Skillings suggested the Dominion Bridge Company could be asked for a recommendation in this regard. He said council action should not be regarded as a motion of non-confidence in the Public Works Committee.

Earlier, Alderman Kent had questioned the necessity for a four-lane structure having a clearance of 30 feet.

City Engineer Jones explained that consideration must be given the development of the upper harbor area. He said also that four lanes might well be required by traffic before the end of the bridge's life.

Mr. Jones explained a three-lane bridge was efficient only when peak traffic operated in only one direction. He added he had thought this condition existed at Point Ellice, but later study showed him peak traffic was heavy in both directions at present.

Mayor George declared a three-lane bridge would be "a suicide bridge." He told Alderman Kent that the 1950 council had stood unanimously for construction of a four-lane structure having a clearance of from 30 to 36 feet. The mayor explained also that the streets leading up to the bridge on east and west were wide enough to accommodate four lanes of traffic.

Ald. Skillings observed a four-lane bridge would be in line with the city's plans to a 42-foot-wide arterial highway of Bay Street right through to the Veterans' Hospital.

Council Approves Tally-Ho's, Hacks

A public works committee recommendation that six tally-ho's and two hacks be permitted to operate in the city during the 1951 tourist season was approved yesterday by City Council.

Alderman Dr. J. D. Hunter, public works committee chairman, explained it had been agreed that the vehicles would use the north side of Belleville Street west of its intersection with Government Street.

If the operators of the vehicles abuse the privilege granted them "they will get into trouble," he declared.

Island Potato Growers To Consider Own Board

NANAIMO, Jan. 16.—Potato growers on Vancouver Island have arranged for a meeting in the Legion Hall at Nanaimo January 29 at which formation of a separate Island marketing board will be discussed.

R. Margetts, Courtenay, director for the Island of the B.C. Coast Marketing Board will be present.

In all there are approximately 400 potato growers on the Island. They are dissatisfied with the methods of marketing used by the B.C. Coast Marketing Board and contend that they have lost control of their own affairs.

It is claimed that the board has forced washing of potatoes on the Island where there has been no previous demand. Growers say that there is no profit in selling their potatoes through the board. Some growers in the Nanaimo and Duncan areas raise as many as 400 tons a year.

A former director of the board has suggested that the Island growers set up their own board or failing that, abandon all market controls.

The matter of breaking away from the B.C. board was first brought up when some of the growers of Nanaimo and Ladysmith met informally at Yellow Point. George Wyndlow, of Yellow Point, presided at that meeting and is assisting in making arrangements for the general meeting at the end of the month.

Captain Retires

CAPT. A. O. EVANS

Returns from active duty with Duncan Volunteer Fire Department after more than 26 years' service, Albert O. Evans was placed on reserve list so his valuable services could be retained by department. Captain for many years, Mr. Evans was instructor of new men entering department, and Chief Joseph Chester said "Mr. Evans' services are too valuable to be lost to department entirely. We want him around here just as much as ever. His experience is invaluable in training new members."

Fire Destroys Camp School

CAMPBELL RIVER, Jan. 16.—Fire of undetermined origin completely destroyed the new school at Camp 5 of Bloedel, Stewart & Welch, Sunday evening. About 6 o'clock flames were noticed coming from the building, but by the time men rushed out to try to quell the blaze the entire building was in flames.

All school equipment, including the children's books, was destroyed. There was no one in the school at the time. The school was heated by an oil heater, which it is thought may have been the cause of the fire.

The school, a one-room, Quonset-type building, was completed and opened last December, although the official opening had not yet been held. Estimated cost of the school was $11,000.

The 16 children who attended the school will be accommodated temporarily in the camp library.

Logging Death Accident, Coroner's Jury Decides

DUNCAN, Jan. 16.—Ale Jaakkola, 48, who was killed Friday morning in a logging accident at Harris Creek, near Port Renfrew, came to his death accidentally and no blame could be attached to anyone, a coroner's jury under A. E. Green, Duncan, found Monday.

The jury was told Jaakkola, head faller, and his partner, Erick Johannes Jaskela, were bucking a 111-foot log, which they had felled the night before. The log fell with a 50-foot overhang on a steep hillside.

They had cut halfway through the log with a power saw when the log split. It split again about eight inches lower, but the team speeded up the saw in an effort to keep ahead of the break. The log "slabbed," however, and as the 36-foot butt end rolled, the slab struck Jaakkola and felled him. The log rolled over him.

Evidence of Dr. George More was that death was caused from hemorrhage and shock from multiple injuries, which the doctor said could only have been caused by a "very heavy blow across the body."

Jurors were: Van T. Shindler, foreman; James Morrissey, Alfred Wilson, Roy Cline, C. R. Ross-Smith, R. D. Howard. Constable Wulf Lambert investigated the accident.

Peter Maffeo, chief of staff for Nanaimo civil defence area, attended the meeting and outlined the defence plan proposed for the district.

Wall Street Soars In Torrid Scramble

By The Associated Press

The inflation-born scramble for stocks hit a red-hot pace yesterday at New York and prices rose all along the line.

Brief selling flurries at the tag-end of the day pulled some issues below their top-levels for the session. Nevertheless, the list was [illegible] from $1 to $3 a share—and higher. A far greater number, of course, produced gains below a dollar.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 90 cents at $92.90—a new 1950-51 high and a peak since the index stood at $93.40 October 3, 1930.

The industrial component of the average was $1.10 higher, rails ahead $1 and public utilities 30 cents.

Trading amounted to 3,740,000 shares—second highest of 1951—compared with 2,830,000 Monday.

TORONTO CLIMBS

Both the industrial and base metal indices again touched new 16-year peaks. Trading was extremely active and volume was about 2,900,000 shares.

In industrials, gains ranged to more than $5 and outnumbered losses about three to one. Papers, steels, constructions, utilities and refining oils all showed a wide ma[illegible]

Banks, textiles and manufacturing companies showed a majority of gains and agriculturals, foods and retail stores tended mixed.

Golds continued their advancing trend of the last three weeks and climbed over a broad front. Senior producers added up to 70 cents and junior golds showed a wide list of penny gains.

Base metals advanced up to $1 in fairly irregular dealings.

Most major groups participated in the general rise and near the close advances in many leaders ranged to a point or more. Papers, steels, constructions, senior metals, senior oils and utilities were prominent gainers.

In Vancouver, there were signs of profit-taking near the close on the Vancouver Stock Exchange. Oils were mainly higher. Base metals were inclined to be irregular.

Home Oil showed the major change today with a gain of .40 to 15.75 and Federated was up .25 to 8.00.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Jan. 16 (CP).—Trading generally was dull today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange with only flax showing strength. Elsewhere prices declined as commercial demand was light in oats and barley and rye trade was local. Offerings tended to increase.

Kenney Optimistic

Natural Gas Supply Here May Aid Rayon Industry

Gas brought by pipeline through British Columbia from Alberta and Peace River fields would bring big changes in the manufacture of British Columbia forest products, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney said yesterday.

A strong advocate of a pipeline through the northern and central British Columbia route, Mr. Kenney said yesterday he had been told by officials of Columbia Cellulose that if gas were available the company would carry the manufacture of acetate pulp to its final stages.

SOURCE OF RAYON

This type of pulp is the source or rayon, plastics, cellophane and explosives and similar products.

Columbia Cellulose's big $30,000,000 plant at Port Edward near Prince Rupert is expected to start operation in March after being three years under construction. Its capacity is 200 tons of acetate pulp daily.

Columbia Cellulose is a subsidiary of The Celanese Corporation of America. Much of the production will go to its plants in the United States.

An important material in processing acetate pulp to its final form is acetic acid, now obtained from natural gas in Texas.

HAS ASSURANCE

Mr. Kennedy said he had been assured that if gas became available in this Province at the coast, then manufacture of pulp here would be carried right through to its end product.

In Prince Rupert recently, Harold Blancke, president of the Canadian company, said the mill is coming into production at a very opportune time, since defence orders will greatly increase demand.

Rayon manufacturers have been feeling the pinch of raw material shortage for some time, he said. Despite a production of 360,000,000 more pounds of yarn in 1950 than in 1949, United States was still compelled to import 60,000,000 pounds of yarn in the first nine months of 1950.

Construction of the mill at Port Edward followed the granting of a forest management licence.

Plan May Aid Fruit Growers

VERNON, B.C., Jan. 16 (CP).—Fruit growers got a cheerful word today — a Federal-Provincial plan may aid growers whose trees were Winter killed last Spring.

Agriculture Minister Harry Bowman said as he arrived for the opening of the 62nd annual convention of the B.C. Fruit Growers' Association a decision on an aid program may be reached early in February.

An President Ivor J. Newman said: "Everyone is confident that help will be forthcoming."

The growers have asked for financial assistance exceeding $2,000,000.

Mr. Newman said that growers will be asked to renew their over-one-desk selling plan. This is a grower-shipper-sales agency. The plan calls for instant control of marketing.

CALGARY CATTLE

CALGARY, Jan. 16 (CP).—Trading was active at steady to strong prices on the Calgary livestock market today. Offerings continued light, with only 440 cattle and calves available this morning. Tuesday's sales were 618 cattle, 136 calves, 191 hogs and 41 sheep.

Foreign Exchange

MONTREAL, Jan. 16 (CP).—The American dollar today closed at 5 1/16 per cent premium to the Canadian dollar, ⅛ lower than Monday's close. That is, it took $1.05 1/16 Canadian to buy $1 American.

The pound sterling was $2.94 3/16, down 3/16.

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (CP).—The Canadian dollar was up 1/16 of a cent at a discount of 4⅞ per cent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings today.

London Market Remains Firm

LONDON, Jan. 16 (Reuters).—The undertone of the Stock Exchange remained fairly solid today but there was little breadth or depth to business.

Oil shares were erratic at times after yesterday's good showing but prices showed good resistance to sporadic profit-taking. Kaffirs held well in quiet dealings while diamonds were generally maintained. The foreign bond market was inclined to be firmer, notably Japanese.

There was hardly any worthwhile movement in British Government securities. Minor irregularity in the industrial market was noted.

Alberta Oil News

By C. O. NICKLE
(Special to The Colonist)

There were 460,696 acres of Alberta Government exploration reservation lands taken out in the past week by oil firms and individuals operating in the province. All the newly-acquired lands are located in Southern Alberta, with the exception of a 69,120-acre reservation which is in the north-central sector of the province.

Home Oil Co. Ltd., a large Calgary independent, was issued with the greatest amount of Crown acreage last week. Home received [illegible] in Southern Alberta. The company's largest spread is in the Buffalo-Red Deer River area, about 130 miles east of Calgary, and covering 180,080 acres. It was taken out under two reservations, both in the name of Home Oil Company. In the Matzihwim Creek area, about 90 miles east-southeast of Calgary, Home acquired another 18,496 acres, in the name of J. W. Hamilton.

The northern tract was acquired for the Seaboard Group, in the Pelican Lake area 140 miles north of Edmonton. The acreage was taken out in the name of one of the group's participants, Honolulu Oil Corporation.

TAKES RESERVATION

Texaco Exploration Company has taken reservation rights on 95,520 acres in the Retlaw-Vauxhall area, about 35 miles east of Baronstown. Western Leaseholds Limited took out 80,040 acres of reservation in the Oil Man River area, around ten miles northeast of Lethbridge. The land was acquired in the name of W. J. Harvie.

This week's other two reservations were acquired in the names of individuals. Edward P. Lamar, Calgary oilman, was issued with 18,400 acres in the Aden-Pinhorn area of Southeast Alberta, just north of the Montana border. Frank J. Simington acquired 19,040 acres in the Bindloss area, 110 miles southeast of Drumheller and a few miles west of the Saskatchewan border.

Twenty-two wells completed in Alberta last week, including 18 oil wells, a gas well and three dry holes. Total completions during the first 13 days of 1951 has been raised to 29 wells, of which 21 resulted in oil production, two gas wells and half a dozen dry holes.

COMPLETIONS

The week's completions were in 11 different areas of the province, with Redwater and Leduc leading the field [illegible] completed wells. Redwater's wells resulted in oil production, including four drilled by Imperial, and one each by Legion Oils & Associates and the Dome Exploration - Western Leaseholds team. There were five oil wells and one dry hole at Leduc this week. Imperial drilled three of the new producers, while the Texaco-McColl team and Vicalta Petroleums each completed one oil well. The Mammoth-Capitol Group failed to find production at its venture.

At Joseph Lake, the Superior-General Petroleums-Kroy-Jupiter-Imperial team placed another two Viking oil wells on production. The week's other oil producers are: A Socony-Vacuum oil well in the Duhamel-Camrose area; a Cal-Standard Acheson well; an Imperial well at Excelsior; another Canadian Gulf venture at Big Valley; and a Husky driller at Lloydminster.

The lone gasser during the past seven days was drilled by Great Plains Development Company of Canada, on a farmout from O'Meara in the Barrhead area.

Two wildcat failures last week were recorded. One was in the Dorothy area of Southern Alberta, drilled by Canadian Delhi; and the other was in the Star area of Central Alberta, drilled by Spike Redwater Oil Company.

Room for Expansion

Montreal Trust Branch Opens New Offices Soon

The new headquarters of the Victoria branch of the Montreal Trust Company will be officially opened Friday.

The modern offices, situated at 1111 Government Street, directly across from the Royal Bank of Canada, were designed to care for the company's expanding volume of business, which, during five years of operation in Victoria, has made it one of the busiest on Vancouver Island.

Manager W. W. Lewis said the company's staff was augmented so often during occupancy at the former location, 1210 Broad Street, that "there just wasn't enough room to work in."

Mr. Lewis said further staff expansion was planned after the new quarters were occupied.

The Roman brick and tile-fronted offices were designed by city architects, Birley, Wade & Stockdill. The premises were formerly occupied by a shoe store and coffee shop.

Official Asks Facts on Home

VANCOUVER, Jan. 16 (CP).—Deputy welfare minister E. W. Griffiths has asked for a full report on conditions in the foster home where a child died New Year's Day.

A coroner's jury last Friday found Alphonse James Bailey, 2½ years old, died an "unnatural death."

From Victoria, Mr. Griffiths asked Miss Ruby McKay, superintendent of child welfare here, for a detailed report.

Dr. Stewart Murray, city medical health officer, is also expected to make a report to City Council.

The home, supervised by the Catholic Children's Aid Society, operated without a licence.

Farm Income Slips Below Recent Levels

OTTAWA, Jan. 16 (CP).—The cash Canadian farmers received for their products in 1950 slipped below the levels reached in 1949 and 1948, the Bureau of Statistics reported today. Sharpest declines were felt on the Prairies.

In a preliminary report, the bureau estimated 1950 cash income from the sale of farm products at $2,170,000,000, down 12 per cent from $2,457,000,000 in 1949 and $2,456,000,000 in 1948. However, it was higher than the $1,967,000,000 in 1947.

Most of the 1950 drop, said the bureau, resulted from a "substantial decline in returns realized from the sale of grains."

"In this connection, Canadian Wheat Board payments in 1950 were below those of 1949. In addition, the initial price of wheat to producers in the Prairie Provinces was lowered at August 1, 1950, from $1.75 to $1.40 per bushel.

FROSTS BLAMED

"Severe August frosts in the Prairie Provinces caused considerable damage to grain crops and sharply reduced average grades."

Adverse weather and growing conditions on the Prairies sparked higher Federal payments under the Prairie Farm Assistance Act. Payments in 1950 totaled $21,182,000, up from $17,628,00 in 1949, $20,748,000 in 1948, and $11,577,000 in 1947.

Officials, amplifying on the report, said that though the 1950 income was down it likely will be balanced by increased income in 1951.

This may result from a Canadian Wheat Board payment of about 40 cents a bushel or more on wheat delivered in the crop year ending August 1. The payment will be made when the crop year ends.

Income will be boosted, too, by a final payment of five cents a bushel or more on the five-year pool which ended August 1, 1950. With total deliveries during the five years amounting to about 1,400,000,000 bushels, the final payment, even at five cents a bushel, would run to $75,000,000.

U.S. Increases Margin On Purchase of Stocks

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (INS).—The U.S. Government tonight raised margin requirements on the nation's stock exchanges from 50 to 75 per cent in a new move to curb inflation and hold down speculation in war industries.

The Federal Reserve Board ordered the increase into effect at the start of business Wednesday.

The action means brokers and banks will have to put up an extra 25 per cent in cash to buy stocks and make short sales purchases on the nation's stock markets.

The order will help curb inflation by cutting down on the amount of money available for speculative purposes.

The 50 per cent margin had been in effect since March, 1949, when the requirement was lowered from 75 per cent. A 100 per cent margin was in effect for a brief period after the war, from January, 1946, to February, 1947.

A boost in margin requirements has been expected for some time in Wall Street circles following the recent heavy activity in the market.

Pickles Becomes Reeve of New Municipality

—Colonist Photo

Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich is pictured taking oath of office before Bert Hemstreet, J.P., who conducted swearing-in ceremony at inaugural meeting at Brentwood Women's Institute Hall yesterday morning. R. F. Blandy, former Oak Bay municipal clerk who will be adviser to new council, looks on.

Thomson Makes Initial Motion

Inaugural Meeting of Council Writes First Lines in Central Saanich History

By GORDON FORBES

The first chapter in the history of Central Saanich Municipality was written yesterday as more than 100 persons attended the inaugural council meeting at Brentwood Women's Institute Hall.

In the audience were municipal and Provincial officials, pioneer Saanich residents, school children and many taxpayers — the people who pay the bills.

Councillor Lorne Thomson became the first man to make an official motion on the new council. He moved that the entire council be named to the court of revision on assessments. Seconder was Councillor Harold Andrew.

Bert Hemstreet, J.P., conducted the swearing-in ceremony. R. F. Blandy, who has been engaged as adviser to the new council, made the opening remarks, noting "the importance of the occasion."

FIRST IN 28 YEARS

B. C. Bracewell, deputy minister of municipal affairs, who represented Municipal Affairs Minister R. C. MacDonald, told the meeting Central Saanich was the only district municipality to be created in British Columbia in 28 years. The last district municipality to be formed was Tadanac, on December 21, 1922.

The deputy minister told the council members they will need the ability to apply common sense. He was pleased, he added, to see the council engage such a capable man as Mr. Blandy.

Mr. Bracewell handed Reeve Sydney Pickles an official copy of the letters patent creating the new municipality.

Mayor Percy E. George brought the best wishes of the City Council. Noting the difficulties which arise when a municipality has conflicting rural and urban interests, the mayor said he thought the ratepayers had taken "a timely step" in forming a separate municipality.

"Make your wishes known. Don't be armchair critics," Mayor George told the audience. "Endeavor to understand what your council is trying to do. Attend your council meetings."

Saanich Councillor Mrs. Grace Shaw wished the new council success, and Councillor H. K. Bate presented Reeve Pickles with a shiny new gavel "with the compliments of Saanich Council." Councillor Thomson suggested the gavel should be "rubberized."

Other speakers were W. E. Poupore, returning officer for the recent elections, and Edward Logan, Saanich Chamber of Commerce official. Saanich Reeve Joseph W. Casey and Percy E. Thorp, school board chairman, were unable to attend.

SIGN BOOK

After the meeting most of the audience signed the record book of the Saanich Pioneer Society which was brought along by a society official.

Next meeting will be tonight at 8 in the Pioneer Hall, Saanichton.

Among those attending the meeting were Reeve A. T. Thomas of Esquimalt, Saanich Municipal Clerk John B. Tribe, Lloyd G. McKenzie, Ward Six Ratepayers' Association legal adviser, Saanich Fire Chief Joseph Law, former Councillor Kenneth Genn, Saanich Assessor F. S. Green, Charles Alridge, deputy returning officer in the elections, Saanich Engineer H. D. Dawson and Saanich Welfare Officer Malcolm Rogers.

Province Will Subpoena Seven Alberta Witnesses

Application to subpoena seven Alberta witnesses for the preliminary hearing of Henry Quinton Hensel, C.P.R. fireman charged with manslaughter in connection with a train crash near Field, August 14, was granted yesterday in Supreme Court by Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane.

The application was made by Alex Pearson, assistant solicitor in the Attorney-General's Department.

Hensel was charged following the death of two men in a collision between a C.P.R. pusher engine and a freight train. The two men were in the caboose of the freight train at the time of the accident.

Crown contention is that the collision resulted from negligence on the part of Hensel, fireman on the pusher engine, in failing to interpret railway signals properly.

The preliminary hearing will be heard at Field, January 24, before the stipendiary magistrate.

Membership of Reading Clubs More Than Doubles in Year

The popularity of children's reading clubs has more than doubled in British Columbia, according to a report from B.C. Parent-Teacher Association headquarters, Vancouver.

More than 5,000 children were enrolled in reading clubs last year, an increase of more than 100 per cent, Mrs. C. W. Mellish told the B.C. P.-T.A. board of directors.

Mrs. Mellish said the association feels that great strides are being made, but there is still a need for more books.

The children are not enrolled in vacation reading clubs. Some centres, such as Victoria, have reading clubs that function all year around.

NEED BOOKS

More books are needed if clubs are to be increased, Mrs. Mellish said. The greatest need is for Grade V books.

In some districts where library facilities are exceptionally poor, the children are forced to exchange their own books among themselves and even then there are not enough.

Parents should be made aware, Mrs. Mellish stated, of the need for increasing library facilities both in the home and in the schools.

Driver Fined For Leaving Accident Scene

Edward Matthews George, Point No Point, Sooke, was fined $40 after he pleaded guilty yesterday in city police court to a charge of failing to remain at the scene of an accident on Douglas Street near Queens Avenue.

Fines of $25 were imposed upon Leonard Allen Mason, 3055 Tillicum Road, and Ralph S. Clarke, both convicted on charges of careless driving.

Failure to make Unemployment Insurance contributions on behalf of their employees resulted in a fine of $15 and $3 costs for partners James Burchett and Torquil H. MacDonald Burns.

Plea of guilty was entered on behalf of the accused by defence counsel Alan McFarlane, who said the offence was not intentional but was due to "lack of liaison" between the employers and their bookkeeper.

Carew Martin, K.C., appeared as counsel for the Crown.

Victoria Man's Appeal For Leniency Rejected

Two criminal appeals from sentences were dismissed and a third adjourned for a week by the British Columbia Court of Appeal yesterday.

Court refused the plea for leniency of Michael Parker, Victoria man convicted of the December 5 hold-up of the store of Rebecca Kessler, 1024 Caledonia Avenue, and sentenced to five years in the B.C. penitentiary by Magistrate Hall.

Parker, wearing a false rubber nose and eyeglasses and accompanied by a 15-year-old boy, entered the store and took between $35 and $40 from the cash register, it was recalled by Crown counsel W. C. Moresby, K.C.

FIRST CONVICTION

Appellant said the conviction was his first, that he had been unemployed for three months prior to the offence and that he and his family had been in "desperate" financial circumstances.

Reiterating his plea, Parker burst into tears.

Dismissing the appeal, Mr. Justice C. H. O'Halloran said the court had received lengthy reports from the probation officer and the magistrate on the appellant and were agreed that the sentence should stand.

Also refused was the appeal of Robert Lewis, 19, sentenced to two and a half years imprisonment on four convictions, including two on charges of breaking and entry with intent to rob, and one on a charge of breaking and entry and theft.

Appeal of Allister Minow, convicted of automobile theft, after escaping from Bisco and sentenced to two years less a day in "closed" Borstal, was adjourned for a week pending obtaining of a transcript of lower court evidence.

Dear Marvin:

Thanks for your letter. It's no wonder you took so long to write. You must have sat up nights for a month to put that together. And I

Dear Marvin: Know what I should be writing you [illegible] I don't [illegible] and am duller than usual. Got [illegible] to the [illegible] again and to be ever hopped up. Dunno [illegible] Maybe I'll [illegible] a real pain for [illegible] and the [illegible]. I guess I think [illegible] I'm getting at [illegible] I'm [illegible] I don't know whether the [illegible] mean [illegible] I'm being [illegible].

Guess you never knew that wrestlers are mean. I mean, when a person sees [illegible] and gentle people or something like that. But this time. You [illegible] go by appearance. Even [illegible] than they appear. Those rugged visages [illegible] which [illegible] would never suspect. They are really [illegible] break a guy's arm and I'm sorry because I thought they were [illegible] They're not [illegible]. Anyway they're coming back and I got to go and see them.

And then we all went fishing with a couple of fellows [illegible] who [illegible] to Greenpoint. It was right about [illegible] then but the [illegible] to go adventuring [illegible] even thought he did catch [illegible] the first one made a monster. He fished [illegible] the [illegible] and most of the rest of the time was a failure, but [illegible] been coming [illegible] more. He's been trying to [illegible] this year. That's why he took me along. I [illegible] He [illegible] it after we fish [illegible] next week must all be [illegible]. I know enough that we have [illegible] a drowned [illegible] a wind doesn't often [illegible]

[illegible] in the arena where I saw the Cougars win their [illegible] and I have only second place [illegible] thought it might be a [illegible] Well, this [illegible] Vancouver team [illegible] and [illegible] Chamberlain [illegible] a game without these [illegible] that were [illegible] It seems a bit [illegible] but I get used to it [illegible]

[illegible] yesterday I suspect that I was dashing after [illegible] Vancouver team [illegible] and [illegible] Chamberlain [illegible] when [illegible] and was [illegible] Chamberlain [illegible] [illegible] a long way from the [illegible] [illegible] Chamberlain [illegible] where the players [illegible] [illegible] before that I had a whole team [illegible] [illegible] coming from the dressing [illegible] [illegible] to tell exactly what did happen when I [illegible] Hay, being the Pacific Coast [illegible] Vancouver [illegible] Hay couldn't help but say [illegible] was a big enthusiastic [illegible] Quite a game [illegible]

Hay never showed. He was so far away when he finished saying [illegible] and that it took half a minute for the words to [illegible] and I was almost up town when I started to think maybe [illegible] Oh well, I'll get even with that guy. Am going over to Vic [illegible] later this month just to see the Cougars do it there also. I'm going to look him up and say Yes.

Better [illegible] after midnight and the conveying room is going to [illegible] Don't forget to write. I want to know what you can find to write about now that I have something to write about.

Joe Williams

DALLAS, Tex., Jan. 16 — Here in the wide-open spaces where Brooklyn fans have perfected baseball heckling done right by Hapless Hagen. If the matter were left to popular vote A. B. Chandler would be returned to the baseball czar's office.

The argument is not restricted to cash customers. A few weeks ago baseball writers in the Texas League took a poll to determine [illegible] operated by Fred Saigh of the St. Louis Cardinals. Chandler's most admirable foe.

The nation's college baseball coaches in convention here went on record as being opposed to Chandler dismissal. Without going into reasons—which might have been difficult—the endorsement said: We would consider it a mistake to lose the services of a man who has done so much to uphold the high principles of America's national pastime.

These sports writers here echoing the Texas Winter meetings tell an identical sentiment generally in favor of Chandler. As one reporter put it: We are more puzzled that anybody in baseball voted against him. Why he was turned down. What do the magnates want a yes man?

Satisfied or not, it is evident the Chandler vote was handled in such a way as to arouse concern, if not resentment. It is no secret that the president of U.S. steel or the head of General Motors is given the best table in every swank restaurant in town. He gets a purchase of $1500 and up in the draft.

Last month baseball's major league chieftains decided to step up the salary of baseball's commissioner from $50,000 to $65,000 a year. Chandler's supporters here say that this statement was made by baseball's club owners before the Kefauver statements about baseball's anti-trust exemption were made. Even those who did not approve of the Chandler regime were willing to vote the increase, they say, because baseball has a big job ahead.

But when the same owners turned down Chandler's request for a pension of $65,000 a year, they were guilty of a penny-wise, pound-foolish policy. Baseball is a big business. It is entitled to the best commissioner it can get. Chandler has done a good job. He has been a strong commissioner. He has made baseball's interests his own. He has been a fighting commissioner. He has been a commissioner who has been willing to take a stand. He has been a commissioner who has been willing to take a stand and fight for baseball's interests.

If baseball wants a weak puppet as commissioner, I have no interest in baseball. Chandler is not a puppet and I have never regarded baseball as a puppet. If baseball wants a puppet as commissioner, baseball is not the baseball I have always known.

* * *

Chandler's Prize Boner

The baseball writers here are unanimous in the opinion that Chandler's biggest boner was his failure to support baseball's anti-trust exemption. The opposition to baseball's anti-trust exemption is based on the fear that baseball will be forced to open baseball's doors to Negro players. Chandler's opposition to baseball's anti-trust exemption is based on the fear that baseball will be forced to open baseball's doors to Negro players. The Office Is Overrated

My own opinion is that baseball's commissioner is overrated. I have been a baseball writer for many years. I have never been impressed by the importance of the commissioner. Anyway, it has always seemed to me that baseball's integrity, presence and common sense should be able to fill the office adequately.

Chandler's record as baseball's commissioner was not all right. I thought it was a good one. He could have done better, or much worse. I had no particular brief for the club owners but I must recognize their right to hire and fire as their judgment dictates. They are businessmen with millions at stake and I must say that I would rather have a good businessman than a bad one. To the question: Do they want a yes man? The answer is that in most matters the commissioner is in effect must be a yes man. He answers to the boss and on the basic problem the answer has got to be either yes or no.

It would be erroneous to believe Chandler lost favor because he had become powerful. The move was reasoning after Landis' death and the commissioner's power was increased. The club owners, a solid, conservative group, felt that they had created a monster. They were afraid of him. They felt that he was getting too much power. They felt that he was getting too much power. They felt that he was getting too much power.

Lumber Space Lack Grows More Acute

—MARINE AND TRAVEL NEWS—

With each day that passes, the shortage of lumber storage space at Ogden Point docks becomes more acute.

More freighters than ever are arriving at the city's deep-sea docks picking up millions of board feet of lumber for widely scattered ports of the world.

Some time ago, in connection with a major improvement program carried out at the docksite, a large area was leveled and hard-surfaced for lumber storage. City and Lower Island mills promptly filled the space. No sooner was one patch cleared and lumber loaded into freighters, than additional lumber would take its place.

Many Up-Island mills are making two or three deliveries a day to the storage area. Business at the dock-site has increased tremendously over the past eight months.

The lumber sent to the docks now is overflowing onto adjacent properties. There are mountains of wood upon the Outer Wharf property of Victoria Machinery Depot Co. Ltd.

It is not unusual these days to see four freighters at a time at the docks. The increased business has necessitated the hiring of additional gangs of longshoremen, who are keeping busier than they have been for many years.

C.P.A. President Back From Visit to Orient

VANCOUVER, Jan. 16. — Back from a two-week inspection tour of his company's trans-Pacific operations, Grant McConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines, said today that C.P.A. officials at Tokio and Hongkong feel no undue alarm over the present military situation and will remain on the job.

Mr. McConachie flew to Pusan with officials of North West Airlines. He was unable to comment on the military situation in Korea.

He said United Nations authorities in Japan expressed their appreciation to him for Canadian Pacific's participation in the airlift to Tokio. He said they were "more than satisfied" with the service troops receive while traveling in the Canadian aircraft.

C.P.A. operates four trips a week out of Vancouver on the airlift service.

Mr. McConachie's trip took him from Vancouver to Honolulu, where he inspected company facilities before going on to the Orient by way of Wake Island. At Wake he conferred with Pan-American Airways officials on the possibility of Canadian Pacific flying the alternate southern route to the Orient through Honolulu and Wake, should it become necessary for military reasons for C.P.A. to discontinue using its present northern route.

Reds Using U.S. Planes

At least one Communist plane shot down over Inchon, Korea, was a lend-lease United States Navy Grumman fighter, and not a Russian Yak as it was listed in official reports.

This was reported by crew members of the freighter Islandside which sailed from here early this week with lumber and grain for the United Kingdom. The ship is the first Canadian vessel to return to this coast from war duty in Korean waters. She was chartered last August by the United States Military Sea Transport Service.

Sioux Due February 4

The Canadian destroyer Sioux, now returning home after five months with the United Nations' fleet in Korean waters, is due to reach Esquimalt, February 4, Naval Headquarters in Ottawa said yesterday.

The Sioux has been relieved by the destroyer Nootka which arrived at a U.N. naval base in Japan after a 12,600-mile voyage from Halifax.

The other two Canadian destroyers in the Far East, the Cayuga and the Athabaskan, are due to be relieved this Spring. The Cayuga will be replaced by the Huron, which will leave Halifax, January 22. Relief ship for the Athabaskan has not yet been named.

Why Patient Should Remain in Bed During an Illness

By DR. J. B. WARREN

In most illnesses, whether or not the patient is to recover doesn't depend so much on the disease present (as the illness runs its own course) but upon how the heart is able to keep up the extra work put upon it. If the heart is very strong it is possible that even if the patient gets up before he should he may get along all right.

However, the average individual with the average heart may do real damage to the heart if he asks it to do hard work when it has become more or less weakened from its efforts in fighting the ailment. Remember, sitting up needs twice as much effort as lying down, standing up, three times as much, and walking around four to five times as much. After operation patient gets up sooner if heart is strong.

Accident, which occurred about 6:15 p.m., caused about $800 damage to truck, and $1,000 to car.

Council Laughs Over Letters Against League

"I've heard enough," Alderman Waldo Skillings cried out yesterday as two letters were read to City Council blasting the Civic Non-Partisan League.

One of the letters from former Alderman B. J. Gadsden termed the league a "machine" which used high powered methods to secure election of its candidates. The other, from Harry Langley, 1010 Foul Bay Road, accused the league of using "Hitler-Stalin methods" in civic politics.

Mr. Gadsden suggested the league should pay the cost of the forthcoming council by-election since the disqualification of one of its candidates has necessitated the by-election.

STARTS CHUCKLES

The letters caused a rash of chuckles among aldermen and in the public gallery in the Council Chamber.

Alderman Skillings interrupted the reading of the letters before the second letter from Mr. Langley had been completely heard.

He objected that the matters brought out in the letters didn't represent the truth.

"I think they are both very childish," declared Alderman Aubrey Kent.

NEWS TO MULLINER

Alderman Frank Mulliner stated the suggestion that the league was a "machine" was news to him. He asserted candidates supported by the league were "free agents with no strings attached." He said it was not true that league-endorsed candidates were dependent on the league for election.

Responsibility regarding qualifications for election belonged to individual candidates, advised Alderman Kent. He added that the league had no responsibility in this regard.

The letters were received and filed by council.

Fine Follows Road Offence

DUNCAN, Jan. 16—Dangerous driving on the Island Highway near Duncan cost David Plaskat $50 and costs or two months in jail when he appeared before Magistrate Tisdall Tuesday.

He was represented by David R. Williams, and pleaded that he had no recollection of anything that happened after leaving some friends in Victoria. The next thing he knew, Plaskat said, was when he came to in King's Daughters' Hospital the next morning. Constable W. J. Stanton testified the accused had "sat up on the stretcher and said he knew who he was, and asked the constable not to tell his mother."

Edward Thomas pleaded guilty to a charge of dangerous driving and paid $50 and costs or two months, and had his driver's licence suspended for two months. Thomas said his brakes failed as he pulled back into line of traffic after trying to pass a truck on the highway.

Many Chinese Conditions Met By Truce Plan, Asserts Nehru

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP). — Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India said today the United Nations cease-fire plan for Korea met many of Red China's basic conditions for a settlement and Peiping had promised it a careful study.

However, word reached here from Moscow even while the Indian leader was speaking that Pravda had taken a long-distance swipe at the plan. The Communist Party newspaper—the Voice of the Kremlin—said the plan was a device by which the United States State Department intended to gain time to reinforce and reorganize American troops in Korea for continued warfare.

Nehru's Government, of all non-Communist governments which have missions in Peiping, has closest touch with the Red Chinese regime. He is understood to have sent a message to Premier Chou En-Lai urging acceptance of the plan, stressing the sincerity of its sponsors and arguing a far eastern settlement would help ease world tension.

Orders also have been sent to India's ambassador in Peiping to urge Red China's acceptance of the United Nations plan, diplomatic officials reported.

CHINA NEEDED

Nehru told a press conference a Korean settlement was impossible without China. He added:

"While the nations have been discussing the entry of the People's Government of China into the United Nations, something much bigger has been recognized — and that is that the new China is a terms of equality by other great powers."

Continued United States support for Chiang Kai-Shek's Formosa-based regime, Nehru asserted, was "unrealistic" because it meant non-recognition of the Peiping Government.

Bet You Don't Know This About Advertising

Quiz No. 10

What does it cost to advertise a quart of milk? 3¢? 5¢? 7¢ a quart?

Answer: It costs less than 1/10¢ a quart to advertise the best known brands of milk.

That's only half the story. Advertising lowers your cost two ways:

Cuts the selling costs. And by helping make mass production possible, lowers the production costs, too.

So advertising saves you many times the cost of that 1/10¢ per quart.

National Advertising

placed in Canada's newspapers, month in and month out, by the nation's leading Advertising Agencies exceeds by a large margin the volume placed in any other medium.

These agencies buy advertising strictly according to the Quality, Nature and Quantity of a medium's circulation.

The daily newspaper's status as the communities greatest advertising medium is not self appraised . . . those who know advertising value best, are the sole judges of its worth and merit.

This recognition by the nation's advertising experts places daily newspapers in the very forefront as Canada's greatest advertising buy.

Shooting in Downtown Hotel Brings Death to Two Youths

door, and a bullet whistled past the chesterfield I was sitting on," said MacArthur.

He said the door of the death room faced him, and was not more than eight feet away.

He said he and the desk clerk agreed there had been shooting, and he went with Kammer to the desk to phone the police.

FETCH WATER

C. H. Muston, another resident of the hotel, said he saw Mazur and Brodie following Kammer when he came out of his room to fetch a basin of water.

He said he had returned to his room when he heard the shots.

Witnesses said the shots came without interruption.

Two of the slugs plowed through the door of the room.

One, after passing MacArthur, ricocheted from wall to wall along almost the entire length of a 60-foot corridor, and the pellet was found in a short passage off the corridor.

Occupant of the room, Robert Shirley, had gone downstairs with a companion for a shoeshine, shortly before the shooting, witnesses said.

Police said one other bullet went through the window, and that others probably lodged in the bodies.

Police refused further comment, pending an inquest, but witnesses said bullets entered the right side of Mazur's face and that Brodie appeared to be shot through the lower chest.

Kammer recalled that the pair booked in carrying no baggage, except a paper bag, and that there was no evidence of a gun.

Both were dressed in civilian clothes.

Almond Draws, Pays Forfeit

LONDON, Jan. 16 (Reuters). — Stan Almond, Vancouver flyweight, boxed an eight-round draw tonight with Henry Carpenter of London at the Streatham Ice Rink.

Almond scaled 114½; Carpenter 109. The Canadian had agreed to come in under 112 and paid a forfeit for being 2½ pounds over the limit.

Almond did most of the forcing and was well on top of his opponent in the late rounds. He hit often with an open glove, thereby losing points.

Vancouver Club Drops Bid For Net Meet

The Vancouver Lawn Tennis Club has dropped any intention it had of applying for the 1951 Canadian tennis championships because of the poor condition of its grass courts. Club officials feel that they cannot be returned in time for the event.

The Jericho Tennis Club has applied again for the junior Canadian championships but it is believed the tournament will be awarded to the Rideau Club in Ottawa for the third straight year. Jericho's application was ignored by the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association last year.

Application has been made to stage the Canadian Davis Cup trials at Vancouver. Decision will probably be made at the annual meeting of the C.L.T.A. at Montreal next month.

New Kiwanis Club Gets Charter

Charter presentation and joint installation of officers of two Victoria Kiwanis Clubs was held last night at Monterey Restaurant. Highlight of affair was presentation of charter by G. O. Rolstad, 1950 governor of Pacific Northwest District (left) to Rev. D. B. Carr, president of newly-formed Victoria North Kiwanis Club. District lieutenant-governor, C. H. G. Mann of Oak Bay Kiwanis Club is shown (right) admiring new charter.

—Colonist Photo

Past president of the Oak Bay Kiwanis Club, C. C. Annett (left) was instrumental in forming new club, along with other members, and wished the club every success in 1951. He also wished Arthur Songhurst success in his new job as president of the Oak Bay Club.

Definitely Opposed

Mayor Reiterates Stand On Civic Business Tax

In an address to the Kiwanis Club yesterday, Mayor Percy George reiterated his statement that both he and City Council were definitely opposed to imposition of a business tax in Victoria.

He explained that the present trade licence arrangement was "most practical," but that measures may be taken shortly to insure greater equality. There were some businesses, he said, that were not paying their fair share insofar as the trade licences were concerned.

"It is my opinion that as business grows, so should the city's trade licence income," the mayor stated.

TWO YEARS NEEDED

With reference to Victoria's new city manager, C. C. Wyatt, Mayor George said he thought at least two years would be required before Mr. Wyatt would "get a complete grasp" of civic affairs and related matters.

A number of people, the mayor said, had wondered why the City needed a mayor now that it had a city manager. "That, in my opinion, is a very kindergarten-type question," Mayor George commented. "It's the same as suggesting that the president of a firm be relieved of his post because a superintendent has been appointed."

City Manager Wyatt said he was in favor of continuing the standing committees within the Council. Such committees, he said, could discuss various civic matters and problems in a thorough and informed manner. There were to be six standing committees in the Council this year, he said: Public works, legislative, parks, social welfare and health, transportation and traffic, and finance.

Inquiry Body On Indians Sets Meeting

British Columbia's Provincial Inquiry Committee on Indian Affairs will meet in Victoria, January 30, Labor Minister John Cates said yesterday.

The committee was authorized in a special Act at the last session of the Legislature. Under the Act it was given permission to inquire into all phases of Indian welfare and to make recommendations to the Government.

Capt. Cates noted British Columbia was the first province in Canada to appoint such a committee, composed equally of white men and Indians.

Back to Front And Still It Was Charming

LONDON, Jan. 16 (INS). — Her hat looked nice even when it was on back to front, but British mannequin Ann South is going to be more careful in the future.

She paraded before 40 fashion experts at a London Spring hat show wearing a satin skull cap in the form of pink leaves with two roses at the front.

"Charming . . . delightful" murmured the audience until the commentator discovered she had it on backwards. Ann just turned it around and the experts came along with their verdict:

"Even more charming."

Report Tells of Dismal Condition Of Island's Union Library Service

Dismal condition of Vancouver Island's Union Library service was outlined yesterday in a report prepared by a special survey committee appointed by the B.C. Library Commission.

The library district includes the east coast of Vancouver Island from Campbell River to Saanich Inlet and west to Port Alberni.

"The salaries are low and there is no salary schedule, no pension scheme and no medical service benefits," the report says. "The working [illegible] not be tolerated in any modern business or industry. In spite of these conditions the staff is loyal and hard-working."

"DISGRACEFUL"

Headquarters of the Vancouver Island Union Library," the report said, "are housed in a basement measuring 14 feet by 44 feet, in which the heating, lighting and ventilation are disgraceful."

The Union Library, the report says, has a book collection of 34,488 volumes, or .6 volumes per capita, whereas there should be a minimum of one volume per capita. It adds that the wide area served actually requires a larger collection than a city of the same population.

The report recommends more care in the selection of books and greater efforts to build up a better reference section.

Other recommendations:

Increased staff.

An adequate salary schedule together with a pension scheme and some form of medical service benefits.

Training at headquarters which would be beneficial to local custodians.

Increased revenues from local [illegible] ment grants.

Libraries Seek $192,000 From Province

Provincial Cabinet yesterday was asked for an appropriation of $192,000 for 1951 to assist public libraries in the province.

The B.C. Library Commission, headed by Miss Margaret Clay, Victoria librarian, said the commission could not properly carry out its functions with grants previously given.

Last year the Government's grant to the commission was $30,000.

BELOW STANDARD

In brief, the commission said: "The standard of service being rendered by public libraries, particularly in the large centres of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, is far below accepted standards."

The commission advised the Cabinet that "the cities of Vancouver, New Westminster and Victoria, from which the Provincial Government derives a major part of its revenue, are not receiving any assistance from the Public Library Commission.

CREDIT DUE

"The municipal governments in these cities are to be commended for the library facilities and services they have created and maintained but they should not be penalized for doing so.

"In the opinion of the commission they should be given assistance to bring their library service up to accepted standards."

The commission pointed out that only 20 per cent of the total adult book stock in libraries is fiction and that libraries are an important educational medium.

STATE EDUCATION

Education in Finland was transferred from the Church to municipal authorities in 1866.

Brentwood W.I. Appoints Committees

The general meeting of the Brentwood Women's Institute was held on Tuesday at the W.I. Hall, with Mrs. R. Ronson presiding.

Jean Arthur to Star In Paramount Film

—HEARD IN HOLLYWOOD TODAY—

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

HOLLYWOOD (NANA). — Jean Arthur takes her last Broadway flight in "Peter Pan" in April. Then she is coming back to Paramount to make a picture. The producers wanted Jean to take the whimsical play on the road, but Paramount had first call. I sure hope she is not going to be as temperamental this time as she usually is in Hollywood.

Greta Garbo rejected "The Blue Veil," because she didn't think the role, as a prim governess, later accepted by Jane Wyman, was right for her. She wants a romantic movie for her comeback. But she is really and truly anxious to return to the screen. And that is why she signed a contract with the Charles Feldman agency. Greta is dressing much better these days. I saw her at the airport in a neat navy blue suit, with no hat! People recognized her, but didn't bother her.

LUCKY

Diana Lynn is a lucky girl. She gets Mel Ferrer for her co-star in "The Voice of the Turtle." They do the play at Phoenix January 30.

Mark Stevens is flying back from Canada from his ailing father, for one day—to discuss the lead with Marlene Dietrich in her western "Chuck-a-Luck." I like Mark. I like Marlene. But isn't he a little too boyish-looking to be her movie man?

Lilli Palmer put her foot in her pretty mouth when she referred to her television colleagues in New York as a lot of chattering dames. A couple of the gals told me they didn't like the adjective.

IN COLOR

You'll see Burt Lancaster's "Ten Tall Men" in Technicolor. Burt is trying to make a deal with Howard Hughes to borrow Renee Jeanmarie of the French ballet for one of his two leading ladies.

James Cagney's "A Lion Is In the Streets" may or may not be in Technicolor. But I still say that Jimpy's last, "The West Point Story," very definitely should have been. It was almost a crime not to see those uniforms and wonderful scenery in color.

June Havoc stars in "Lady in the Dark"—at the Sombrero Playhouse —when she finishes her picture with James Mason, "The Lady Possessed."

Olsen and Johnson have received a bid from the King brothers to pack their grips and come to Hollywood for a crazy-type musical. And with their own play closed in New York, the answer seems to be "yes."

Gary Cooper went to New York from Florida to discuss starring in the Celeste Holm production, "The Chase." But Warners have paged him for a new movie right away. The play may have to wait.

Elizabeth Taylor's family tell me they expect her to return home to them after she leaves the hospital. I hope so. Lizzie is too beautiful to be living alone and liking it. Her 21-year-old brother, Howard, is now learning to be a soldier at Fort Ord.

Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during intervening times between the high and low waters given. 0.8 foot must be subtracted from the heights in this table to conform with the datum of soundings on the charts of the locality.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"I'LL SEE YOU HANGED . . ."

The reader who has any idea that slang is a modern invention, that persons of similar upbringing and education spoke more politely to each other in olden times, has considerable disillusionment in store for him. This insulting taunt, "I'll see you hanged first," is a case in point.

It is in Shakespeare's historical drama, "Henry IV," that the words' first recorded usage is found, paradoxically, it seems, with the word "thee": "I'll see thee hanged first."

In those days, when comparatively petty crimes were punishable by hanging, the allusion was naturally more familiar in common speech than it is today, and it is found in many of Shakespeare's plays in varying degrees of gravity. For example, in "The Two Gentlemen of Verona": "A man is never undone till he be hanged." Or, in "A Midsummer Night's Dream": "They would hang us, every mother's son."

The idea was not long, of course, in getting into the literature of proverbs. In Ray's "English Proverbs," published in 1678, the expression is as follows: "Proverb 261. I will first see thy neck as long as my arm."

Culbertson On Bridge

(Copyright, 1951, by Ely Culbertson)

"We were pretty lucky, to have that diamond fillesse come through for us," North observed as he cheerfully entered up 1,670 points on the "We" side of the score-pad.

"That's right," his expert partner agreed. "But I'm glad that my friend on the right didn't make me guess."

"What d'ya mean?" East growled —so South told him! This had been the hand:

South, dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

NORTH

♥ A Q 10 6 4
♦ 10 9
♣ 4 3 2

WEST

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♠	Pass	1 ♥	Pass
3 ♠	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♠	Pass	6 ♠	(final bid)

North's jump to the slam was aggressive, but after all, up to that point he had not announced any real values, and he actually had a strong supporting hand.

West was not enamoured of any lead from his holding, and decided that since the opposing clubs were evidently solid, no harm could be done by opening a trump, so he led his singleton. (As it happened, this should have turned out to be a good choice, in that it gave declarer a chance to go wrong.) South, having seen the outstanding trumps drop together, led a spade to the queen. When East took the trick, declarer had only one chance for the contract —to discard a spade on dummy's heart ace and try the diamond finesse. Fortunately for him, the king lay right, so the slam came home.

Now let's get back to the remark South made, about being glad that East had not given South a guess. East could have done just that—with a vengeance! All he had to do was to play low on the first spade lead, without hesitation! Consider South's dilemma then! He could scarcely assume that East had both the spade ace and the diamond king —he could not, with equanimity, discard a spade on the heart ace and take the diamond finesse! No, with the spade queen holding, it would have been very, very tempting to discard the diamond queen and to play West for the ace of spades!

Uncle Wiggily Story

By Howard Garis

POLICE CAR

Uncle Butter was very much surprised when he opened the door of his grocery and saw out in the storm Uncle Wiggily and his two friends—Mr. Whitewash and Mr. Turfhog.

"I thought you started for your bungalow, Wiggy," bleated the goat gentleman.

"So we did, Pat," the rabbit answered. "We started walking behind Whitie, who did a fine job in keeping the wind and snow off Turfy and me. But Whitie got mixed up in the storm. He went around in a circle and here we are right back where we started from—your store."

"Come in! Come in!" Uncle Butter invited. "You can visit and eat cookies and crackers and cheese while I telephone my wife and Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy that I will be staying here for the night. Here comes for the snow pudding."

Even the polar bear was more cheerful after he had eaten a lot of snow pudding. But when Uncle Wiggily tried to telephone to his wife and Nurse Jane, he couldn't do it.

"No one answers the telephone," he said.

"Isn't there anyone home in your bungalow, Wiggy?" asked Uncle Butter. And the rabbit answered:

"Oh, yes, I'm sure my wife and Nurse Jane are there. But the storm must have blown down the telephone wires. So I cannot get word to my wife that I am safe here in the grocery. Dear me, what shall I do?"

"Maybe we had better go out in the storm again," said the white bear. "This time I will not go around in a circle, Wiggy. I think I can take you to your bungalow."

"Well, I certainly would like to be there," said the rabbit. But when the door was opened the storm was so much worse that no one could go out. Then, suddenly was heard the siren of a police car.

I will tell more about this tomorrow if the ice cream cone doesn't fall off the porch.
